+ + Mansfield Needs Safe Schools—Vote For the Bond Issue + +

MANSFIELD voters will decide tomorrow whether our city will continue to cripple along with ancient unsafe, unsanitary public school buildings, or take place with other progressive Ohio cities of similar size by erecting two modern, safe, sanitary junior high schools and greatly improving conditions in old elementary school buildings.

Much has been said about the school bond issue. Much deserved to be said. Nothing more important has faced Mansfield in many years than what is to be done about our public schools.

The proposal is to issue $550,000 in bonds, to qualify for a federal grant of $450,000—thus making possible a million dollar public school construction and remodeling program for this city.

Approval of this project requires that 65 per cent of the votes cast tomorrow be FOR it—which means that a minority of slightly more than one-third can defeat the issue.

A few have argued that Mansfield people would actually pay the $450,000 federal grant. THIS GRANT IS NOT TO BE REPAID, NOR DOES [boilerplate: Simpson, H G State Museum Comp] EST!

Th[illegible]f the billion dollars being distributed by the federal government, through the PWA, for public works projects. It has already been allocated to Mansfield's school project, subject to approval of the $550,000 bond issue.

But if the bond issue is not approved, this $450,000—which will pay the cost of ONE NEW JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING—will go elsewhere and Mansfielders will still have to pay their share of the billion-dollar fund being expended over the country.

Present and future school children in all parts of Mansfield will be directly benefited by the new and remodeled school buildings—and the actual cost to taxpayers will be amazingly small, as compared with the benefits.

Bonds would extend over a twenty-year period, during which the estimated requirement in tax money would average 83 cents per year on each $1,000 of tax value.

But 40 cents per thousand dollars of valuation will stop with taxes payable in 1939, due to retirement of school bonds, thus making an annual increase of ONLY 43 CENTS PER THOUSAND DOLLARS OF TAX VALUE, TO CARRY THROUGH THIS MILLION-DOLLAR BUILDING PROJECT!

If only the cost were being considered, now is the time that Mansfield can get TWO NEW JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL BUILDINGS FOR THE PRICE OF ONE.

But more than the cost in money must be considered! Mansfield children are entitled to as good schooling as children in other cities—with whom they must later compete.

They are also entitled to safe and sanitary school buildings, in which their lives and health are not endangered.

Remembering the horrors of the Collinwood fire, and recalling other catastrophes in which children have been the principal victims, there can be no condoning continued use of school buildings, or parts of buildings, that have been condemned as unsafe.

THERE CAN BE NO RETURN TO USE OF THE THIRD-FLOOR FIRETRAP AT JOHN SIMPSON JUNIOR HIGH. MANSFIELD CHILDREN CAN NO LONGER BE SUBJECTED TO SUCH RISK.

Something must be done NOW to improve intolerable conditions in Mansfield's junior high and elementary school buildings.

Approval of the school bond issue tomorrow will solve the problem at the least possible cost.

VOTE TOMORROW FOR THE SCHOOL BOND ISSUE—THE OUTCOME MAY DEPEND ON YOUR VOTE!

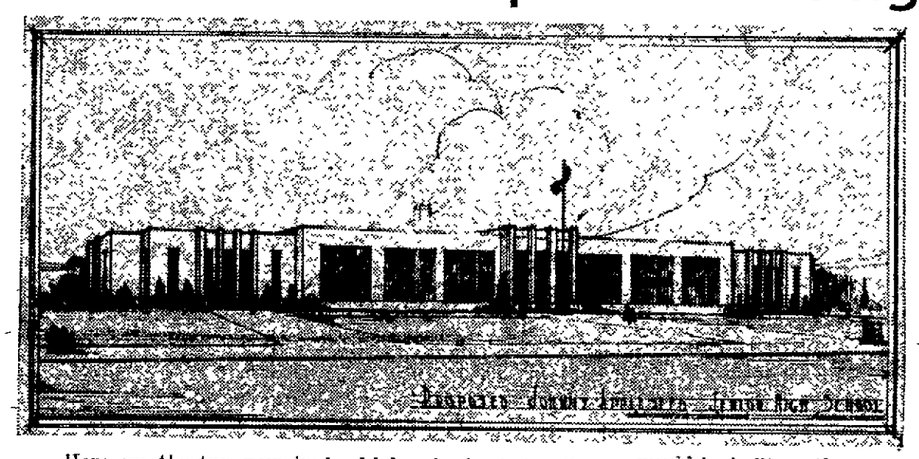
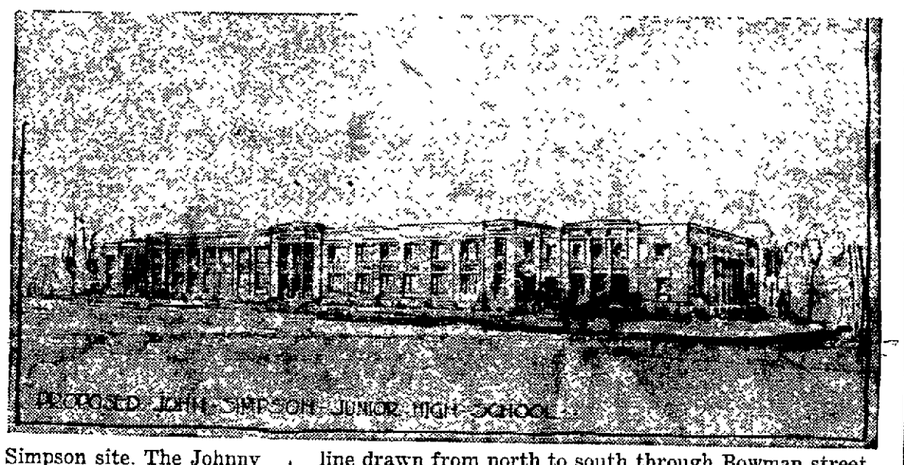
CITY SET FOR SCHOOL BOND VOTE

Fate of These Proposed Buildings At Stake In Election Tomorrow



Here are the two new junior high schools that will be built in Mansfield if the school bond issue is approved at tomorrow's special election. The new Simpson building would be built on the present Simpson site. The Johnny Appleseed school would be built on a Cline avenue site recently purchased by the school board. Though in different sections of the city, both are near an imaginary line drawn from north to south through Bowman street. Figures at the office of the superintendent of schools show that of the city's 1645 junior high school pupils, 815 live east of that line, and 830 west of it.



DECIDES FATE OF ISSUE TOMORROW

$550,000 Issue Needs Majority of 65 Per Cent At Special Election If Mansfield Is To Get $450,000 Gift From PWA.

Mansfield gets its last chance tomorrow to accept a $450,000 gift from the federal government for its schools.

The decision on whether the offer will be accepted or rejected will be made at a special election by an army of voters expected to reach 8,000. They will decide if $550,000 in bonds will be issued for a school building program in return for the PWA grant of $450,000.

Only on condition that Mansfield funds are made available will the federal allotment be released. And these funds must be on hand by Oct. 1, the PWA has announced, or the grant will be cancelled. That is why the expansion and improvement of the city's school system hinges on tomorrow's election.

As in the August primary when the bonds were first submitted, the issue must receive a 65 per cent majority (approximately 2 to 1) to pass.

Since the verdict to hold a special election was reached in mid-August, a relentless campaign has been waged not only to win supporters for the issue, but to get hundreds of Mansfielders to either register or transfer so they will be eligible to vote tomorrow.

The burden of the drive has been carried by Parent-Teacher association groups, school board members and the pupils themselves. Their objective has been to wipe out the 400-odd negative votes that sidetracked the bonds in the August primary.

Realizing that the success of a campaign rests upon organization as well as sincerity of its workers, the P. T. A. groups built a campaign machine that would rival the well-knit units of either political party.

Their organization was set up in ward groups as well as precinct committees. No prospective voter was overlooked. The appeal for the bonds and the school building program was carried to practically every home in the city. The cards were laid on the table. Everything was done to enlighten voters on the need for the building program.

How well these Parent-Teacher

Surrender to Hitler On Czech Demands

British and French Cabinets Vote Final Approval of 'Deal' Giving Germany Czech Territory; Prague Lets Military Precautions Stand.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—The governments of Britain and France today gave approval, apparently unanimous, to a tremendous international deal to satisfy Adolf Hitler and keep Europe's great democracies out of war.

With almost desperate finality the cabinets of London and Paris approved the decisions made by their premiers here yesterday, accepting Hitler's demands on Czechslovakia and proposing a system of guarantees which they hope will bring central European peace at the price of Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland.

In Prague itself the Czechoslovak government faced fateful decisions on proposals communicated to it by the powers of Britain and France.

There were indications that the Czech leaders still were standing by their previous determination to defend themselves—even without the help of the western democracies and counting to the last on help from Soviet Russia.

Complete official silence was maintained here after a meeting of the cabinet called to ratify last night's agreement between Prime Minister Chamberlain and Premier Daladier of France to meet the demands of the German chancellor.

But it was generally expected that Chamberlain would not long delay his return trip to Germany to tell Hitler what the democracies had agreed to do.

Proposals Approved.

Here is an unofficial outline of their solution of Europe's crisis which informed persons generally accept as authentic:

1. The Sudeten districts of Czechslovakia which in district elections last May and June voted 75 per cent or more for the Sudeten Germany party of Konrad Henlein will be considered to have decided on union with Germany.

2. A new frontier shall be drawn to include all such districts within Hitler's reich as far as it is practicable.

3. Districts which voted between 75 and 50 per cent for the Henleinist candidates shall be grouped in autonomous areas inside Czechoslovakia.

4. Arrangements shall be made by the exchange of populations to sefeguard the liberty of German minorities which do not wish to come under German rule. There shall be similar arrangements for Czechoslovakia's Polish and Hungarian minorities.

5. The new frontiers of Czechoslovakia shall be guaranteed by the great powers and neighboring states, and shall be released from her alliances with France and Soviet Russia; in other words she shall be an "independent, neutral state" like Belgium, which has the guarantees of Britain, France and Germany.

The proposed guaranteeing states for Czechoslovakia are Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Poland, Hungary and Rumania.

Sees Hitler Again.

'GIFT' TO REICH DRAWS CHEERS

Sudetens, Armed With 40,000 'Free Corps' Troops, Call Mass Meeting Tonight.

(By Associated Press)

SELB, Germany—Sudeten Nazi leader Konrad Henlein's headquarters was overjoyed today over reports that England and France had agreed to hand over the Sudeten area of Czechoslovakia to Germany, without a plebiscite.

These reports reached the Sudetens from a Prague radio station.

"In that case," said a Sudeten spokesman, smiling, "our free corps will be the first to occupy Sudetenland as Czech troops and gendarmes withdraw."

The first Sudeten mass meeting on German soil to explain Sudeten opinion and arouse compatriots in Czechoslovakia will be held at Dresden tonight.

Deputies Rudolf Sander, Dr. Wilhelm Sebekovsky, Sudetens, and Joseph Paul Goebbels, the Nazi propaganda minister, are to speak.

Henlein himself may appear.

'Condemned Without Even Being Heard!'

PARIS —(INS)— "My country has been condemned without even being heard!"

This was the exclamation of Stefan Osusky, Czechoslovakian ambassador to Paris, after a long interview with Foreign Minister Georges Bonnett today in which he was informed of the Anglo-French decision to sacrifice his country in behalf of peace.

Osusky was in tears when reporters encountered him outside the Quai D'Orsay.

BEGIN HOUSING BOARD STUDY

City, County Officials Check Personnel Possibilities for New Authority.

City and county officials today began their study of the personnel for a five-man Metropolitan Housing Authority to conduct a $2,000,000 slum clearance program in Mansfield.

Emerging from a two-hour session at the courthouse this morning, officials said they had not come to any definite conclusion and that it probably would be another week before the personnel would be named.

Those attending the meeting were Mayor Claude M. Hunter, Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston, Probate Judge C. J. Anderson and County Commissioners C. L. Mitchell, Ray Hout and Guy Stewart.

Named Appointing Authority.

The group was designated as the Richland county appointing authority by the state housing board in Columbus last week after the state had ruled favorably on the city's petition to conduct a slum clearance project here.

Mayor Hunter will select two members to the board while the two judges and the board of commissioners will name one each.

The Mansfield Metropolitan Authority will operate as a private corporation with the right to sell, buy and trade property.

The authority will apply for a federal grant to get the project started if its petition is accepted in Washington. Bonds would then be issued in the amount of 10 per cent of the government loan. They would be retired from first income from the property.

The plan as outlined by a citizens committee which conducted a preliminary survey calls for the condemnation of several north end districts and the construction of new modern low-cost houses at the east end of the city between Grace street and Wooster road.

9 DIE IN BUS CRASH

MEXICO CITY — (INS) — Rain-swollen torrents which weakened supports of the bridge were blamed today for the death of nine passengers in a bus which crashed through a span near Torreon, Coahuila. Five were hurt.

School Bond Election Facts

Polls open 6:30 a. m. and close at 6:30 p. m.

Issue: Proposal for issuing $550,000 in bonds to help finance a $1,000,000 school building program.

Other source of financing: A $450,000 PWA grant, already set aside for Mansfield if the bond issue passes.

Funds would provide: Two new $450,000 junior high schools, a $25,000 shop addition at Senior high school, modernizing of toilet facilities at nine elementary buildings. Would also provide jobs for 250 men for a year.

Cost to taxpayers: 43 cents on the thousand dollars property valuation over the present tax rate of 15 mills.

Percentage of vote needed to approve bond issue: 65 per cent of total vote cast.

TAX RATES CUT IN 14 DISTRICTS

Six Subdivisions to Have Higher Figure, Six to Remain Same.

Tax rates for 1939 will be lower in 14 of Richland county's 26 major sub-divisions, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said today, after releasing tentative rates for next year.

The new rates will be higher in six districts and the same as this year in six others. The rates must be accepted by the sub-divisions and then sent to the state tax commission for approval before they are effective, the auditor said.

Mansfield's rate, one of the lowest of any municipality in the county, will be 15 mills, a reduction of .40 of a mill. The cut Wolfe said, is due to the retirement of school bonds and the resulting drop in interest and bond retirement fund needs.

The city's tax revenue would be distributed on the basis of 7.40 mills to schools, 4.87 mills to the city for operating expenses, 2.60 mills to the county for operating costs, and .13 of a mill to Madison township for operating purposes.

The major reduction in the county was in Bellville where the rate

ESCAPES DEATH AT CROSSING

Ashlander Leaps as Train Hits Auto at New London; 2 Hurt in Lone Richland Mishap.

An Ashland man escaped death last night at New London when he leaped to safety as his automobile, which had stalled on a New York Central railroad crossing, was struck by a westbound New York-St. Louis freight train.

Meanwhile in Mansfield, two persons were injured, neither seriously, in a lone Richland county traffic accident over the week-end.

Elsewhere in Ohio however, 10 persons lost their lives in highway mishaps.

Arthur Jarett, colored, of Ashland, jumped to safety when his car was struck at the Ohio street crossing of the Big Four in New London. The automobile was demolished and several freight cars derailed.

The accident damaged the interlocking switch system and passenger traffic was re-routed over the line between London and Wellington until 8 a. m. today.

Railroad officials said the engine of the automobile became wedged under the wheels of the locomotive, causing the derailment. None of the crew were injured.

In Mansfield, Miss Ann Nagle, 23, and her brother Daniel, 20, of 20 Wolfe avenue, were treated at the General hospital early yesterday, for lacerations sustained when the car in which they were riding with Kenneth Lang, 49 Boughton avenue, collided with a truck on Ashland road near East Fourth street.

Police reported that Lang collided head-on with the truck which had been parked at the curb by Marvin Hildebrand of Trailer City.

Rains In Wisconsin Add To Threats Of Serious Floods.

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis.—(INS)—Heavy rains over southern Wisconsin today increased flood threats along a score of streams already coursing over their banks in low lying areas.

MERCURY SKIDS, CITY SHIVERS

Temperatures Drop to 45 in Night; Cold Spell to Stay Through Tuesday.

Fires were kindled in homes and offices today as Mansfielders shivered in 45-degree temperatures, lowest since last spring.

Little relief from the chilly weather was in sight, the weatherman predicting continued cool tonight and Tuesday. Possible light showers are expected Tuesday, but the weather will be generally fair in the state, the forecast said.

While there was no evidence of frost reported in the Mansfield area this morning, gardeners and fruit growers feared frost would occur tonight if the skies clear.

The mercury had climbed only to 59 degrees at noon today, 10 degrees under yesterday's top reading of 69. The low Sunday morning was 53 degrees, and the average for the past 24 hours was 59.3, four below normal.

The sun broke through the clouds shortly after noon today and promised to drive out the damp chill, but a brisk north wind gave plenty of evidence that the first day of fall is only four days away.

MARKET PRICES CLIMB $1 to $3

Stage Rally As Britain, France Ease War Threats.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Anglo-French consent to the German partitioning of Czechoslovakia relieved Wall Street's fears of immediate conflict in Europe today and stock market prices rose $1 to $3 a share for important issues.

Trading was quiet. Buyers merely nibbled, but offerings were sufficiently scarce so prices moved up readily.

Wheat and corn moved sharply lower at Chicago. They were recently freely bought when war appeared imminent. Cotton, sold last week on war fears, rebounded today for modest gains.

News-Journal to Hold Usual Election Party

Returns in tomorrow's special school bond election will come hot off the griddle—as usual—at The News-Journal's election party tomorrow night.

The same News-Journal election machinery that provides returns in regular elections will be in operation—a corps of tabulators, and the big silver screen across Walnut street from The News-Journal office. Returns will also be made available by telephone.

The party will start shortly after 7 p. m.—and will last until all the ballots have been counted. Come down and join the party!

Miss Fairfax Gives Advice On Problems

Dear Miss Fairfax:

For a long time now I have been going to dancing classes in our community. I met a young man there, who has been very nice to me and pays a great deal of attention to me. We talk and are very sociable. During all this time he has never really been introduced to me. Don't you think, if he really cared about me, he would get a mutual friend to introduce us? Or do you think I should pass him by until we are regularly introduced?

READER.

Since you both attend the same community center, the boy evidently regards that as the equivalent of an introduction. Don't you think it would seem strange to be introduced to a boy with whom you've been sociable for several weeks? Don't bother with a formal introduction, as you've already made his acquaintance.

* * *

Dislike Each Other's Friends.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I've been "going steady" with a young men I met down at the office where I am employed. I'm 20 and he is 23, and we've been going together almost three years now. But we haven't set a wedding date because his work is only temporary and he may be laid off any day now. We see each other every day.

However, here's the problem—he doesn't like my friends, and I don't like those of his I've met. He always wants to be alone with me, and consequently we quarrel almost every evening. We both love each other—there's no doubt about that. But should we marry under these difficulties?

WONDERING

I'd suggest you get those differences, about each others' friends, ironed out before you think of getting married. After you marry, it's more than likely you'll have to see more of his friends than you do now. And you will want your friends to come over too. To be really successful, marriage should not be a closed corporation. If he's going to object to your friends, and you object to his, there's bound to be trouble. Try to stop your quarreling, because one may break you up.

Marriage and Babies.

Dear Miss Fairfax.

Jack and I are engaged to be married. He's very fond of children, while to me they're only howling brats. What do you think? Is it a good idea for a girl, who despises babies, to marry?

BACHELOR GIRL.

No, it's a great mistake. However, don't let that keep you from marrying. When you have your own baby, it won't be a "howling brat," like other peoples' babies seem to you. It will be a beautiful, adorable, fascinating angel child.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I grudgingly admtited that the Princess Olina made a most attractive picture as she came into the living room from the hall. But as my eyes flew to Noel's face in the desire to see what his reaction was to the royal girl on whom his father was so determined he should dance attendance, I was gratified to see only the ordinary cordial courtesy, tinged with the admiration every man accords a pulchritudinous feminine friend.

Both he and his father went forward to meet her, but I saw that Noel meticulously kept in the background, giving his father the chance to speak to her first.

"My Dear Princess!" Philip Veritzen said as he bent over her hand and raised it to his lips with a gesture that was almost a flourish. "I am so relieved to find you safe. You cannot imagine how worried I have been, and Noel also."

Olina sent Noel a swift glance, and I knew that his men, which betrayed anything save worry, was not lost upon her.

"That's so sweet of you both," she said, "and I'm terribly sorry to have alarmed you by our unceremonious departure. But we really couldn't help it. Mr. Spencer sent word by Mrs. Underwood that we must leave with her immediately because we were in grave danger."

"I've had such wonderful care, that except for a certain natural fatigue I'm perfectly all right, especially now that I know Maman isn't going to be terribly ill, as I was afraid she was for a little while after she reached here."

"She is really better then?" Mr. Veritzen asked, and Olina answered with a promptness and an air of truthfulness which showed that Katherine had done her work well. Queen Olga's daughter really believed what she was saying.

"Oh! yes," she said. "Mrs. Bickett assures me that if she's kept perfectly quiet she will be all right after a few days.

His Suspicions Allayed.

The taut lines of Philip Veritzen's face relaxed.

"You didn't waste time getting here," she said, and there was a subtle something in her voice which made his haste a tribute to herself. "Is that the American way?"

"Ask my father," Noel replied in an offhand manner which made his sire frown portentiously, but which meanly delighted me. "He was the one who burned up air routes and telephone lines finding you."

"You are unnecessarily — facetious, Noel," his father snapped.

"Sorry, Sir," Noel replied perfunctorily, and his father turned his attention to Lillian and me.

"As Mrs. Bickett is so competent," he said, "I am wondering if the princess could not be spared to come away with us. I would provide an impeccable chaperone, and my son's operetta could proceed. I think I have told you of the wonderful assistance the princess has been to my son in the revision of the score."

Well-Fitted Foundation Streamlines

By MME. QUI VIVE

Have you bulgeline troubles? Have you dieted and exercised and given up reducing as a bad job? Shame on you! If you'll be persistent you'll fool the bath room scales. But there are women who can't resist appetizing groceries that put on fat cells.

These poor weak darlings can find help and comfort in a foundation garment that distributes flesh, picks up curves and tucks them away, brings out the good lines. Much can be done in the way of figure-molding by correct corseting.

It is our opinion, humble though it may be, that no woman is qualified to select a corset for herself. A single manufacturer will produce as many as 300 models. How is she to know which one will prove a blessing to her? Let her consult an expert corsetiere, abide by her judgment.

Slack Muscles.

Featherweights, even those under 100 pounds should be harnessed around the middle if abdominal muscles have gone slack, built a tummy shelf. Physicians who give advice concerning treatment of the pendulous abdomen recommend the wearing of surgical supports, corsets that lace in the back, hold up the slack fibers of the lower part of the torso. With this support there is more normal functioning of the digestive organs.

The main complaint against foundation garments is that they are warm. Evidently the protesters haven't looked over the corset stock. Garments are now made of cotton voile, heavy cotton laces, lightweight satins. Another wail has to do with restricted movement. That's silly. Garments made with side panels of elastic that works two ways, up and down and sideways, give perfect freedom of motion.

Smooth Evening Dress.

With an evening gown that is as form-fitting as the skin, it is necessary that, beneath it, there should not be a crease or a ripple. To be beautifully dressed, it is necessary to start at first base. On a figure with unsightly bulges the most beautiful robe will be nothing but so much dry goods.

Foundation garments are exquisitely fashioned. Designers have never before made such enticing and successful patterns. We recommend them especially to Lazy Bones who won't exercise, who continues to gobble her cream puffs.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, Sept. 20.

A VERY lively and eventful day is the augury based on rather conflicting planetary positions. While there may be definite progress toward the stabilization of congested conditions, yet this reorganization may have somewhat of a devastating nature, causing sudden upheavals, unexpected changes, with surprising contacts or strange adventures, all rather drastic but not lacking in romantic angles.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of unsettlement, with rather contradictory events. While a death or bereavement may be at the root of amended finances and increased estate, yet this may cause unexpected upsets or disturbances, with travel and change.

A child born on this day may be studious and earnest, yet it may seem to have its frivolous moments being adventurious, unsettled and romantic.

If you like the flavor of butter in vegetables, stir it into the cooked vegetables just before they are served, rather than while cooking. The flavor thus imparted is more pronounced.

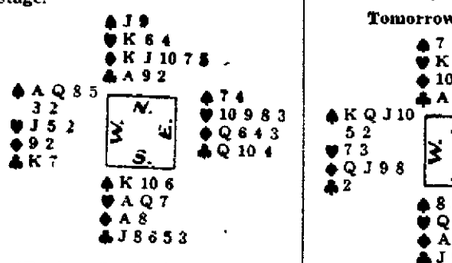
"The Authority on Authorities"

TOSSING A BIG ONE

IT TAKES a player with foresight to nonchalantly discard a nice big king(note the nonchalantly split infinitive) or play it on the declarer's ace when a small card is available. Yet that is the only efficacious defense against some contracts, which require your partner taking the lead, instead of yourself, at some later stage.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South bid 1-Club on this deal, North 1-Diamond, South 1-No Trump, North 2-No Trump and South 3-No Trump.

Against this contract the spade 5 was led by West and won with dummy's 9. Realizing that East should be kept out of the lead, the diamond J was led and finessed. When it held, the diamond 5 was led to the A. The heart 7 to dummy's K came next and was followed by the diamond K. As the suit did not break, South decided to cash what tricks he could, so he played his two high hearts and the club A. To his delight, West was forced to win the next club trick and was obliged to lead a spade, giving the declarer his needed trick for game.

Had West looked ahead a little, it would have been evident to him that the tossing of the K on the club A would have meant defeat for the declarer, if East had the Q, as then East would have been in the lead on the second club trick and could have come through the spades.

THEATER

FILMLAND tidbits: The Strand theater in New York gets Wayne Morris on the stage free because Morris' pal, Johnny Davis, was nervous about doing a personal appearance act alone. . . . Everybody at Warner's was trying to get on the "Women in the Wind" set to see Maxie Rosenbloom do a love scene with Kay Francis. She plays a woman flier in the picture and he is one of the lads who falls for her. . . . Phil Regan, tired of waiting for his contract difficulties to be settled, is rehearsing a 14-piece orchestra and will go on the road in the next two months.

A psychiatrist with dancing feet meets an actress with a similar complex, and the result is "Carefree," filmusical co-starring Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, playing at the Ohio. The dancing stars are cast in the picture as a psychiatrist and an actress-patient, and the doctor's efforts to analyze the young lady's romantic problems lead to a series of hilarious events spiced with gay music and colorful dancing. Ralph Bellamy, Luella Gear, Jack Carson and Franklin Pangborn support the stars.

Drama of Alaska Life.

A panoramic view of the rugged life in America's last frontier is brought to the screen in "Spawn of the North," with George Raft, Henry Fonda and Dorothy Lamour in the principal roles. The film, the screen version of Barrett Willoughby's novel, tells of the experiences of two lifelong friends who find themselves arrayed opposite each other when the fishermen and canners of the region band together to stamp out the sea pirates who have been ruining their business. John Barrymore, Lynn Overman and Akim Tamiroff are in the cast at the Madison.

"The Prisoner of Zenda."

Ronald Coleman comes to the Majestic theater Tuesday in "The Prisoner of Zenda," one of the features opening on the mid-week program. Madeleine Carroll and Douglas Fairbanks, jr., head the supporting cast. Coleman plays a dual role in the picture, appearing both as the adventurous Rudolf Rassendyll and as King Rudolf V, the monarch he impersonates. Margot Grahame and Paul Cavanaugh in "Crime Over London" completes the program. "52nd Street" and "Juvenile Court," play through today.

'The Girl of the Golden West.'

The old romantic California that has almost been forgotten in the modern whirl of things, comes back to life in "The Girl of the Golden West," at the Ritz Tuesday. Nelson Eddy and Jeanette McDonald head the large cast. Miss MacDonald plays the owner of a saloon while Eddy portrays a romantic bandit who falls in love with her. Complications arise when a gambling sheriff steps into the picture. Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy in "The County Hospital" completes the mid-week program. At the Ritz today are "The Devil's Party" and "Everybody Sing."

Hot Dishes Suggested In Recipes

By IRENE OBERLIN

Home Service Department of the Ohio Public Service Company.

It isn't too late yet to do a little more canning and in this miscellaneous collection of recipes you will like the one for Barbecue Sauce. It is especially nice with meat dishes and will make a peppy sandwich spread, too.

Barbecue Sauce

6 Cucumbers.
12 Mangoes (6 red, 6 green),
3 Peppers,
½ Cup salt.

(Use coarse knife on food grinder). Let stand 20 minutes or so and then drain.

5 Cups sugar,
1 Pint vinegar.

dd to the vegetables and boil 15 minutes.

1 Jar prepared mustard.
¾ Cup flour.

Add this and boil 15 minutes more. Seal in jars.

Baked Ham In Blanket.

Have the small end of ham cut off. Trim off rind and most of the fat. Place in roasting pan.

4 Cups flour,
2 Tablespoons ground cloves,
1 Cup brown sugar,
2 Tablespoons cinnamon,
2 Tablespoons mustard,
1 Teaspoon black pepper.

Use enough water or cider to make a dough. Roll into a sheet large enough to cover ham. Bake at 350 degrees temperature, 30 minutes to the pound.

Peach Upside Down Cake.

¼ Cup butter,
⅔ cup sugar,
1 Egg (well beaten),
2¼ Cup cake flour,
4 Teaspoons baking powder,
Pinch of salt,
1 Cup milk.

Melt 3 tablespoons butter in frying pan Cover the bottom of pan with thin layer of brown sugar. Arrange peaches to cover the sugar and pour the cake mixture over. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes Turn out and serve hot with plain or whipped cream.

Deep Apple Pie.

6 Apples,
½ Cup seeded raisins,
Grated rind 1 lemon,
½ Cup sugar,
½ Teaspoon nutmeg,
1 Cup flour,
⅓ Cup shortennig,
About 3 tablespoons water to make the crust
Pinch of salt

Bake at 450 degrees for 30 minutes. Reduce heat and bake 10 minutes longer

Clam Chowder.

1 Can clams,
1 Pint tomatoes,
1 Onion,
8 Strips of bacon,
2 Cups diced cooked potatoes,
¼ Teaspoon thyme,
Paprika and salt to suit your taste.

Drain clams through a coarse cloth saving the liquor Clean and chop clams. Cut bacon in small pieces and brown lightly Pour off some of the fat and lightly brown the chopped onion. Add to the other ingredients

Macaroni Souffle.

3 Eggs,
1 Cup milk.
1 Cup macaroni,
1 Cup fresh bread crumbs,
1 Tablespoon parsley,
1 Tablespoon onion,
½ Cup pimento,
1½ Teaspoon salt,
½ Cup green pepper,
1 Cup cheese,
¼ Cup melted butter.

Combine ingredients and bake in buttered casserole one hour or more at 375 degrees

Tipped Parfaits

Lend a chocolate flavor and give a flecked appearance to the vanilla mousse or parfait you're making in your mechanical refrigerator by adding half a cup of grated sweet chocolate to each three cups of the mixture.

To clean linoleum which has been cemented down use mild soap suds and warm, not hot water, and scrub quickly, so as not to loosen the cement To keep linoleum looking new, frequently apply a coat of thin wax This gives a seal which helps prevent stains

Remember blueberry pie fillings need some lemon juice or vinegar to bring out the best of the flavor Use one tablespoon of either for each two cups of berries

Standard Recipe For Biscuits

Biscuits are the quickest of quick breads. They require only a short time to make, and if a few simple rules are followed the results will be excellent.

The proportions used in a standard baking powder biscuit recipe are:

2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2-4 tablespoons shortening
2-3-¾ cup milk

To make soda biscuits substitute ½ teaspoon soda for the baking powder and use buttermilk or sour milk instead of sweet milk Delicious biscuits can be made with sour cream. The shortening is omitted and ½ teaspoon soda is substituted for the baking powder The soda is treated as a dry ingredient and is sifted with the flour rather than combined with the sour cream.

In making biscuits the flour is sifted before measuring. It is then combined with the salt and baking powder and sifted again so that the baking powder and salt are evenly distributed in the flour

CUTTING-IN

The shortening in biscuit dough is "cut" into the flour mixture with either a fork, two knives or a pastry blender until the mixture resembles coarse meal, or it may be blended in with the tips of the fingers. It is important to have the mixture cool, for if it is warm the fat melts and melted fat makes less tender products. Flakiness and tenderness depend upon the shortening being distributed in very thin layers between the layers of flour, and this is best accomplished when cool or cold fat is used.

Stuffing Prelude

Stuffed peppers are often improved in flavor if they are first parboiled for five minutes in water to cover. Add a fourth of a teaspoon of soda to each quart of water Rinse the peppers in cold water, then drain them and they'll be ready to stuff

Peppermint Salads

Plain white peppermint candies add refreshing flavor to fruit salads or appetizers. Add several to the fruit mixture while it is chilling The peppermints will dissolve and quickly flavor the combination

CHAPTER 45

After Nick left, the tall blond young man came back, took his seat silently, and everything was as quiet as before. There were a dozen questions Noel would have liked to ask him, but remembering how surly he had been, she decided not to try to make him talk, but leaned back against the cushions, now and then taking an uneasy nap.

The long night passed at last. Another breakfast tray of coffee and sandwiches was brought in. When she had finished with it, the young man himself took it out and remained away from the room about 20 minutes.

This gave Noel a chance to go to the windows and try to get some idea of where she was and the distance from town. This gloomy old house seemed to be situated in a sort of wood or forest There were trees in every direction, but there didn't seem to be a road of any kind leading up to the house There must be a road, of course, Noel thought, remembering the car which had brought her here. But wherever the road was, it was cunningly concealed.

Noel thought dismally that there couldn't be a better hiding place anywhere. The immediate grounds surrounding the house were overgrown with shrubbery and weeds. Everything about the place gave it an air of desertion.

Noel was still standing at the window when the blond young man came in "I must ask you again to stay away from the window," he said, taking his seat.

Noel went back to the divan and sat down wearily among the cushions. How much longer would she be kept a prisoner here? Would Nick really be waiting for her tonight in case she did manage to get out the window? Didn't he know the windows were all locked?

Gradually Noel's unhappy thoughts went back to little Betsy. Poor lonely little girl, she knew Betsy was missing her. Then Noel thought of Laurie. She did hope that Laurie was already planning her marriage, getting ready for a little home. That was where Laurie belonged. She was a born homemaker, and Jimmy would be a good husband.

And of course Noel couldn't keep her thoughts away from Julian, even though she knew the less she thought of him now, the better off she would be. Every time his strong, dark face came before her, a sharp pain tore at her heart. No doubt Julian had made a wise choice He was like that. He had cut a clear path for himself, led first by his ambition, and there was no turning aside for him. But Noel couldn't help wondering if there wouldn't be a time when he would wake up and find Ruth Chester wasn't quite the paragon of goodness and efficiency he had believed.

In the late afternoon, Noel caught the sound of a car coming toward the house. A short time afterward, two men came into her room. Following them was Nick. The first man was squat and bullet-headed, with powerful bulging muscles and rat-like eyes. The other man looked to be of the prosperous business type, well-groomed, prematurely gray, with intelligent, deep-seated gray eyes. Only his grim expression revealed him to be the type of criminal Noel believed him to be.

Nick stood off to one side.

"Neat piece of goods, what?" the bullet-headed man ejaculated. The gray-haired man gave him a frown. Then he moved toward Noel and said in a cultivated voice, "We are ready, Miss Shayne, for you to write the note to your uncle"

Noel caught a glance of warning in Nick's eyes. Remembering his instructions, she said coolly: "You seem very certain that I intend to write the letter."

The gray-haired man's glance wandered to the man with the powerful muscles. "You won't refuse," he said grimly.

Noel saw that Nick too had glanced at the squat, heavy set, bullet-headed man.

"You see," the gray-haired man began, "Bill has a way of persuading our little friends when they prove stubborn"

"You'd better sign it, Miss Shayne," Nick spoke up. "As I told you before, these men mean business."

Noel knew, however, that Nick was playing for time. She said after a pause, "Will I be released when the money is paid?"

The two men exchanged glances. "Why, of course," they exclaimed in unison. Then Nick said, "You have no reason to fear that you'll still be kept here."

"I'd like to have more time to—to think it over," Noel ventured. She was trying to stall as Nick had told her to do.

"You've had time enough," the gray-haired man retorted.

"After all, there are so many things to be considered—" Noel stalled again.

"The only thing to be considered is whether or not you're going to write the note," the gray-haired man said impatiently.

"And if I refuse?" Noel tried to say coolly.

"As I said before, you won't refuse," the gray-haired man again glanced at the bullet-headed Bill.

"Please give me a little more time," Noel resorted to pleading.

"How much more time?" came the question.

"Another—day," Noel said, looking at Nick and thinking she read approval in his impassive expression.

"That's too long." The man turned to Nick. "Shall we give her any more time, or turn her over to Bill to be persuaded?"

Not a flicker crossed Nick's face as he said, "Let Bill have her. He'll bring her around in no time at all."

"Just what I think," the gray-haired man assented.

Bill moved up, a gloating look in his beady eyes.

"The only trouble is," Nick began suavely, "Bill sometimes gets too enthusiastic about his job. Perhaps you'd better give me a few more minutes with this girl. I have a feeling that she'll listen to reason now."

"Perhaps you're right, Luigi. Go ahead and see what you can do. Then if you fail again, Bill will have his chance."

"Wait a minute," Nick said as the other two started towards the door. "Some of your fellows out there don't know me. I had to have a scrap with two of them yesterday before I could get in here and start things. Better drop a hint to them."

"Of course, Luigi. Those chaps are new. That's the reason."

The two men continued toward the door. Just as they opened it, Nick went up to Noel and gave her a vicious shake. "Now, you'd better make up your mind, young woman—"

The door closed. Nick released Noel who sank onto the divan. Then Nick's voice came again in a horse whisper. "Here—take my watch and keep it with you. Exactly at 1:30 let yourself drop out of the east window. Don't be afraid. I'll catch you It's our only chance. And don't forget the hour. I had to change it."

"But the window is locked," Noel told him.

"I've taken care of that." Nick was moving toward the door now. "Well, it's a good thing you decided, my girl. It just goes to prove you're smart," he said loudly.

Then his voice dropped again to a whisper. "Say that you'll write it the first thing in the morning."

Noel repeated the words after him in a voice loud enough to be heard outside the door.

Then Nick said in a whisper that they might give her that much time and they might not. And then loudly, "The sooner you get this note written, the sooner you'll get released. Just keep that in mind."

He went out then. Noel heard him talking to someone outside but could not understand his words. She supposed it was agreed that she would be given until morning. For there was a silence after she heard Nick walk away. And a minute later the blond young man came back to take up his vigil.

When Noel saw him, her heart sank. He looked so unapproachable, so stern. She wondered how on earth she'd be able to escape, even if she should find the window unlocked at the appointed time, with this man sitting here watching every move she made.

For several minutes Noel sat on the divan thinking, and studying the young man's face at intervals. She decided at last to make another appeal. "There is a little girl who depends on me. It seems that I'm her only friend. Even right now," she went on pleadingly, "I'm afraid she's fretting herself into a fever because I—"

"Will you please not talk?" the young man cried in a nervous voice.

Noel leaned back against the cushions. It was no use. He was as hard as nails. Now and then she stole a glance at Nick's watch which she had concealed in her sleeve. The minutes were going by rapidly. Much faster than she had dared hope.

A supper tray was brought in. Noel forced herself to eat a small part of the food. Then it was 9, 10. Eleven at last. At 12 Noel still saw no chance whatever to carry out Nick's instructions.

Then to her unbelieving eyes, exactly at 1:30, the blond young man walked to the east window and unlocked it. After which he walked to the door saying he needed some cigarets to someone outside and disappeared.

A minute later Noel was letting herself down from the window. She was caught in a pair of burly arms, but they did not belong to Nick.

Davey Defies U. S. on Pensions Again, Hurls New Blast

ASSERTS OHIO WILL IGNORE NEW HEARING

Assails 'Political Bluff' in Letter to Board; CIO Hit in New Statement.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Gov. Martin L. Davey today told A. J. Altmeyer, chairman of the federal social security board, that "we are not going to do anything to help you out of the hole you dug for yourself."

Rejecting an invitation for Ohio officials to attend a future board hearing to determine if federal funds should be withheld from the state's 110,000 old age pensioners, the governor declared in a letter:

"There is nothing that could be gained by a hearing . . . except perhaps insulting tactics that might give you an excuse to get out of the awkward situation in which you have placed yourself.

"You made a threat through newspapers three days before the recent primary to withhold federal funds . . . in order to scare pensioners into voting against the present governor.

'Dare Not Rob.'

"I think you meant that as a political bluff. We are not going to help you dig yourself out of the hole . . . I do not believe you dare rob these aged citizens of Ohio of what is their right under the law."

It was Davey's second letter to Altmeyer since the board accused the governor's administration of political activity in Ohio's pension system, and Davey replied that the attack was an "effort by his enemies' to aid the candidacy of Charles Sawyer, who defeated the governor for the Democratic nomination Aug. 9.

The first letter which denied all accusations, was sent to Altmeyer shortly after Davey refused to allow H. J. Berrodin, chief of the Ohio division to aid for the aged, to appear before a board hearing on Sept. 6.

In his second letter, Davey charged that Altmeyer required his employes to be members of the CIO, "whether they like it or not." Adding that most Ohio employes were members of the American Federation of Labor, the Governor said:

"Whether there is any animosity on your part for this reason, I do not know." The governor has been openly at odds with the CIO.

Davey charged further that Altmeyer's agents threatened Ohio legislators with withdrawal of federal pension funds a year and a half ago if they approved an amendment to the state old age pension law prohibiting educational requirements for civil service applicants, excepting professional and other positions that required such training by statute.

Seek To Prevent New Strike Riots At Toledo Plant

TOLEDO—(AP)—Armed guards again patroled property of the Federal Creosoting Co., today as operations in the plant were resumed following a week-end truce between the concern and striking members of four American Federation of Labor unions.

A score of strikers were on the picket line as work was renewed on the treating of 400,000 railroad ties. Six deputy sheriffs and approximately 20 New York Central police guarded the area to prevent renewal of rioting which resulted Saturday in the wounding of 16 men by shotgun pellets.

Hopes of peace in the 19-week-old controversy rested on the outcome of a conference between representatives of the company, the unions, and a panel of the Toledo industrial peace board.

In arranging the meeting Edmund Ruffin, director of the board, made an ineffectual attempt to persuade the company to shut down the plant during negotiations over wages.

This was refused by Col. Kenneth Gardner, attorney for the company, in a telephone conversation from New York. Gardner told Ruffin the work being done here is of an emergency nature and could not be postponed.

Mansfield high school bandsmen left more of a mark on the gridiron Saturday than did the cleat-shod Tygers who opened their season with a 14 to 0 victory over Akron West. New polish on the shoes worn by J. Merton Holcombe's musicians left a trail of white as they shuffled through their maneuvers on the heavy grass at the intermission.

Camera addicts were much in evidence at Saturday's high school football game, and the results of the focusing skill of Paul W. (C. of C.) Williams may be inspected in the window of the Tawse pharmacy, Mansfield-Leland hotel. Williams' best shot was of Ike Smith, his outstretched hand snagging a touchdown pass from Al Schwaner in the end zone. It was Mansfield's second and last score of the day.

Disproving the old adage that a man is without honor in his own country, "Red" Skelton, a Mansfield boy who made good in the movies and on the stage, came back home Saturday night and received an ovation at the Madison theater. Appearing in a surprise performance preceding the theater's amateur program, Skelton received thunderous applause for his impersonation of a girl putting on her make-up in the morning. He will open a stage engagement Friday at the Palace theater in Columbus.

IN CLEVELAND

Sheriff, Deputy Appear Before Federal Grand Jury.

Sheriff E. P. Long and Deputy Glenn Freeman were in Cleveland today to appear before the federal grand jury as witnesses in cases against two Richland county residences who are charged with the illegal manufacture of liquor.

Involved in the charges set for hearing today are Ermie Poppa, Mansfield, and Roy Gortner, of near Galion, both of whom are accused of operating stills. Poppa was arrested by Sheriff Long and federal liquor officers after a still was found in the basement of his home.

Gortner is held on a charge of operating a still in an abandoned dance hall in Perry township.

CHADWICK TO BE LEGION'S CHIEF

Other Candidates for Commander Withdraw From Race.

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — While the rank and file of American Legionnaires took over Los Angeles' downtown area and sight-seeing spots, leaders of the convention, beginning its sessions today, settled two major pieces of business.

All candidates for national commander save Stephen F. Chadwick withdrew from competition, leaving him to be elected by acclamation and Chicago had been selected as the site for next year's convention.

The candidates who withdrew were Ray J. Kelly, corporation counsel for the city of Detroit; Lynn Stambaugh of Fargo, N. D.; and Milo J. Warner of Toledo, O.

Hull Says Program Directed at Removing Need for World Armaments, War Threats.

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Cordell Hull told the seventh International Management Congress today that the United States had promoted its reciprocal trade treaty program in an effort to remove the need for vast, world armaments and the "monstrous threat" of military action.

Hull's address was read to the triennial meeting of the congress which 2,000 delegates from 20 foreign countries and the United States are attending here this week. He did not mention the current crisis over the Sudetenland, but made a veiled reference to international affairs by saying:

"The United States has endeavored to work out a policy for steady reduction of world trade barriers to promote mutually beneficial exchange so that the genius of anyone in any country may be made available for the benefit of everybody in all countries.

"This we have done in the firm belief that thereby there would be created in all countries conditions contributing to removal of pressure leading toward military action and making unnecessary the enormous burdens placed upon the world by armament and the monstrous threat to the world of military action.

"In order to do this, we have engaged in and have encouraged with all our power a return to those standards of international law under which commerce thrived, management improved and wealth increased."

FARMER TAKEN BY DEATH AT 84

Jahu Sell Dies at Home; Funeral Services To Be Wednesday.

Jahu Sell, 84, died at his home east of Little Washington Sunday after a brief illness. Born near Bellville, Nov. 16, 1853, Mr. Sell resided on the farm where he died for 55 years.

Surviving are his wife, Elizabeth; a son, William of Galion; a stepdaughter, Mrs. A. R. Daniel of New London; a stepson, Robert Widdifield of Los Angeles, and three grandchildren. He was the last member of a family of 13 children.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday with Rev. Arnold Creigbaum of Ashland officiating. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery in Washington township.

SHOWDOWN COMES TOMORROW ON ROOSEVELT'S 'PURGE' IN N. Y.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The 1939 primary season ends tomorrow with national attention centered on President Roosevelt's effort to defeat conservative Chairman John J. O'Connor of the house rules committee, in New York's 16th congressional district.

Four states vote tomorrow: New Jersey, Wisconsin, Massachusetts and New York.

But bigger things are brewing in New York state than the so-called "purge" directed against O'Connor. Republican and Democratic conventions to nominate gubernatorial and senatorial candidates meet next week. Republicans may name Thomas E. Dewey for governor—the young man who startled the country with a performance of racket-busting that led to his joust this month with James J. Hines of Tammany Hall.

If Dewey is named, Democratic chieftians probably will try to draft Sen. Robert F. Wagner to run against him. Wagner led the Democratic ticket in New York in 1932, even topping the vote of presidential candidate Roosevelt.

O'Connor, entered in both Democratic and Republican primaries, is opposed by James H. Fay, New Dealer, in the former and by Allen W. Dulles, lawyer and former foreign service officer, in the latter.

No primaries issues of consequence have developed in New Jersey. Sen. John Milton, D., N. J., a member of Frank Hague's machine, did not want renomination and the organization has settled upon William H. J. Ely, former state WPA administrator.

Wisconsin offered a Democratic-Republican coalition against the new La Follette progressive party in tomorrow's primary. Sen. F. Ryan Duffy, a faithful New Dealer, is a candidate for renomination with Mr. Roosevelt's blessing.

The Massachusetts primary raises no issues of national interest.

STRICKEN TODAY

Mrs. Marchant, 76, Victim of Heart Ailment.

Mrs. Mary Luella Marchant, 76, wife of Sherman Marchant, 397 West Fourth street, died in General hospital today of a heart ailment. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Palmer, pioneer residents of Richland county.

Born near Pavonia March 27, 1862, Mrs. Marchant has been a lifelong resident of this vicinity. She was a member of the First Methodist church, the Sappho club and the Audubon club.

Survivors include beside her husband, a sister, Mrs. Bessie Clouse of Tiffin.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at the First Methodist church with Rev. Edwin G. Corwin officiating. The body will remain at the Jones funeral home until the time of the service.

Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

SUSPECT NAMED AS OFFICER'S ACTUAL KILLER

First of Four Indicted in Slaying Before Jury in Harrison County.

(By International News Service)

CADIZ—An assistant state attorney general, Eugene Carlin, was appointed today to assist Harrison Harrison County Prosecutor Fred Orum as Peter Serino, 20, went on trial, charged with the murder of Highway Patrolman George Conn.

Carlin is a former Wayne county prosecutor. Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy assigned him to assist in the prosecution of Serino and three others jointly indicted, at the request of Prosecutor Orum.

Serino's trial came as the aftermath of his fight to escape extradition from Pittsburgh. He was implicated in the Conn slaying by Charles Ford, one of the four men indicted. Ford allegedly confessed.

Patrolman Conn's bullet-riddled body was found in a ditch near Freeport a year ago. The bill of particulars states that Serino, the three other defendants and a woman known only as "Bernice Bradley," were in the car used by the slayers.

Questioned Occupants.

The state contends that Conn halted to question the occupants after Booker Johnson and Bernard Masulla had left it momentarily to go into a nearby woods.

While the patrolman was questioning Serino, at the wheel, according to the state's version, Johnson and Masulla returned and ordered Conn to put up his hands. As Conn wheeled to face the latter, Serino and Masulla opened fire, the prosecution contends.

The patrolman's body was then wrapped in burlap and left in the roadside ditch. Weeks later a trusty in a St. Clairsville jail furnished the tip which led to the indictment of Serino, Masulla, Ford and Johnson. The girl who was supposed to have been with them on the day Conn was killed has never been apprehended.

Masulla, whose trial is set for October 10, asked Common Pleas Judge Barclay W. Moore to appoint defense counsel as he lacked funds to engage his own attorney.

Johnson is serving a term in Ohio penitentiary on a robbery charge and Ford is in an institution near Pittsburgh.

NATIVE DIES

Mrs. Marie Ernsberger Spent Entire Life in City.

Mrs. Marie Ernsberger, 44, of 101 North Diamond street, wife of Roy Ernsberger, died in the General hospital today after a brief illness. Born in Mansfield, June 11, 1894, Mrs. Ernsberger spent her entire life here.

The survivors include a son, Le Marr at home; two daughters, Mrs. Richard Heinlen of Galion and Emmajean at home; four brothers, George and LeRoy German of St. Louis, Mo., and Nathan and Harry German of Mansfield; a sister, Mrs. Harry Thierlein of Mansfield, and a grandchild.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home. Arrangements are incomplete.

ILL TWO YEARS, TAKEN BY DEATH

Charles Wheeler, 68, Had Lived In Ashland For 30 Years.

ASHLAND—Charles Wheeler, 68, died at his home here Saturday evening following an illness of two years.

Born in Summit township, Monroe county, June 22, 1870, Mr. Wheeler had been a resident of Ashland for the past 30 years. He was a member of the Methodist church, and W. D. Stern Bible class of the church.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Ralph Benton, Ashland, Mrs. Elsie Stull, Ashland, Mrs. Lorena Clingan, near Mansfield, and Mrs. Frieda Hout, Pavonia; a son Herbert C Wheeler, Ashland; two sisters Mrs. Elizabeth Cunningham, Wheeling, W. Va., and Mrs. Mary Fliehman, St. Charles, Mo., and 12 grandchildren.

The body was taken to the family home where short funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, followed by services at 3 p. m. at the Methodist church, with Rev. A. A. Hunter, officiating. Burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Politicians Resent White House Interference by Corcoran and Cohen

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—General Hugh Johnson's picturesque opinion of the presidential dog-robbers, Tommy Corcoran and Ben Cohen, is one of the most touching detestations of the New Deal phase of American politics. It has been largely through the repititious expression of the old cavalryman's loathing for this book-smart pair that their famous passion for anonymity has been starved to death. As a result of publicity from the general they are now as famous as they may have wished to be obscure and are growing more so day by day.

Even though he may not realize it, the general probably has in his soul some of the traditional feeling of the soldier in the ranks for the captain's striker who gets the leavings from the table and apparel of the head man and a chance to slip in an occasional needle load of company gossip and advice.

The dog-robber, like Tommy and Ben, occupies an undefined position, being neither a soldier in the full sense of the word nor an officer, but has his being in the atmosphere of command, removed from many of the duties and disciplinary hazards of life in the ranks.

The feeling of the men on the hill, those rough-and-tumble regulars of politics who have to go into action to save their political lives and subsist on the regular mess, seems to be similar to Johnson's. Politics is their business, and they are exposed to risks and temptations that do not exist in the sheltered life of the political secretariat.

It would be strange indeed if a senator or representative, taking a full part in the company life and duties, did not feel slightly resentful at the smirking officiousness of a protected presidential house pet in telling him what he must do in some matter involving his manly independence if not his principles, which nowadays are mentioned only with a sneer, anyway.

He would be no man if he did not sense presumption in such approaches and in threats, however suavely put and however authentic. No wise company commander would send his dog-robber to issue orders for distasteful duty to soldiers in the ranks with accompanying intimations of so much K. P. or so many days in the guardhouse for failure.

Mr. Roosevelt has his sergeants for such missions, but he has chosen to use his strikers instead and has permitted them to concoct onerous assignments which gall the souls of the old campaigners, with the natural result that the company morale has been shot to pieces.

The rather spinsterly existence of the president's political batmen has been thrown in the faces of the rough-handed and deep-voiced bucks in the barracks who, in a manner of speaking, shoot craps, get drunk and otherwise conduct themselves as common soldiers.

They have to stand inspection by both their constituents and the boss and are invited to the White House only to be crawled or specially instructed, whereas Tommy and Ben stand neither formations nor inspection and enjoy the possession of latchkeys to the skipper's quarters.

Tommy and Ben never earned chevrons in the party. They came in only yesterday as soft-handed recruits. And yet old-timers in the Democratic outfit have been given to feel that a commander to whom they offered loyal co-operation within the articles of war has let his dog-robbers push them around and threaten them with court-martial and execution for failure to comply with schemes which violated their ingrained understanding of their obligations to the country.

Johnson, as an army man, has the instinct to respect his sergeants as a means of commanding respect for them and for his own authority. Let a commanding officer discredit his sergeants and he discredits not only them but himself in the eyes of those to whom he looks for respect, obedience and that impalpable power called co-operation which even the most obedient troops can withhold.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—It's terrible the way most of the uncertainty is being taken out of my life.

Six nights a week, for instance, I know that the doorbell is going to ring. About 10:30. And I'm going to answer it and the man is going to say, "Well, here I am again."

And I say, "So you are," and he gives me the envelope and we both chuckle a bit, like the old friends we are by now. Maybe he says, "Nice evening," and maybe I say, "Yeah, lookit that moon," and he says, "Well, good night," and goes chug-chug down the street to take the uncertainty out of other lives kindred to mine.

Sometimes we're going to persuade him to come in for a sarsaparilla—if special delivery men can take sarsaparilla—because we want to know if he knows how much uncertainty he's taking out of our lives. Also because it seems rude, sort of, to let an old friend chug-chug away without refreshment of a sort, night after night like this.

He hasn't missed yet. If we happen to be out looking at a movie, or sleeping through one, or just out at a movie, it's there when we come in. That envelope. "Today at Warner's."

The contents tell all that the next day holds. At Warner's anyway. Well, practically all. Well, something. Well—

And it's funny, but I've checked on it several times and the prophet who writes it seems to know. Maybe he reads the call sheet, or asks around. But he knows.

Today, for instance, when the mercury is higher than Jeanette MacD's best note and I wouldn't go near the Warner oven unless I thought Joan Blondell was going to sock Errol Flynn or all the Dead End kids were going to get the spanking they need—today he has it doped like this:

Tygers Start Preparations For Massillon Encounter

Aerial Attack Features Debut

Nagle, Phaler Outstanding as Mansfield High Whips Akron West, 14-0, Before 4,000 Spectators.

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

MASSILLON's shadow darkened the practice field at Mansfield high school today as Coach Russ Murphy assembled his squad of footballers for another week of strenuous drills.

Saturday Massillon's defending state champions invade the Tyger lair, and Mentor Murphy is not looking forward to the meeting with any delight.

Murphy and his chief aid, Harry Mehock, witnessed Massillon's impressive victory over McKeesport, Pa., Friday night, and they have a pretty good idea as to the size of the task confronting the Tygers this week-end.

According to the Tyger coaches, Massillon stacks up considerably stronger than last year when Mansfield battled the Stark countians to a 6 to 6 tie, and they insist it will take a more capable Mansfield team than the one which trimmed Akron West, 14 to 0, Saturday to do as well as its predecessors.

Picks Out Flaws.

Mansfield showed only flashes of greatness in the inaugural witnessed by 4,000 spectators at Stadium field, and Murphy indicated today that enough flaws cropped out in the Akron West game to keep him busy the entire week supplying remedies.

The Tygers produced less speed and less in the way of sustained running attack than any recent Mansfield football edition, but displayed an aerial game that might develop into the most destructive weapon at their command.

Defensively speaking, Mansfield gave a fine exhibition Saturday, but whether the Tygers' performance was due more to woefully weak West offensive than their own strength remains to be seen.

The defending Akron champions did not invade Mansfield territory once, and the nearest they came to touchdown territory was 51 yards. Their running game was ineffective against the Tygers, and their passes threw a scare into the Mansfield ranks only once.

There is a suspicion that the Tygers coasted in Saturday's inaugural, that they revealed little more than necessary to win because of scouts who were on hand to record their every move and that they might have scored several other touchdowns had Murphy permitted the team to pull off offensive tricks that have been devised for more capable foes than the Cowboys.

Murphy does not admit this, of course. He merely contends that the Tygers have to produce better football to rate a chance with several of the foes remaining on the schedule

Shows Possibilities.

The team is unseasoned, but it performed well except for occasions that it bogged down on the attack. The Tygers will show amazing development, we believe, but whether its packs the stuff to hold such foes as Massillon, Hammond, Ind., Sandusky and Canton McKinley on even terms has yet to be determined. Saturday's game will undoubtedly decide the Tygers' future.

Mansfield outplayed the Cowboys whose only defeat last year was administered by the Tigers, in every department. The Men of Murphy registered 10 first downs to four for West, accumulated 143 yards from scrimmage to 45 and gained 135 yards in the air to only 49.

Penalties proved costly to the Tygers Saturday. They lost 85 yeards in this manner, and they were inflicted at times when they were driving deep into enemy territory.

The penalties had much to do with keeping the Tygers from scoring more often, it cannot be denied.

Mansfield lost the ball on downs three times Once on the 26-yard line, again on the 16 and the last time on the 35

Although Capt. Rich Nagle pulled off several nifty gains from 17 yards on down, it was the passing that stood out in the Mansfield attack. The Tygers attempted 23 throws, with 14 hitting their mark.

This is remarkable throwing, and the percentage of completions might have been considerably higher had not receiver bobbled a number of throws.

Nagle completed 10 throws out of 13 attempts to pace the aerial attack. Ike Smith, Al Schwaner and Red Lemunyon also took their turn at heaving the leather with success.

Perhaps one of the prettiest plays of the day was pulled through the air in the third period With the pigskin on Mansfield's 41, Nagle threw over the line to Bill Russell. Russell lateraled back to Nagle, who picked up his interference beautifully for a first down on the visitors' 43.

Score Through Air.

Both touchdowns were scored through the air on well-timed executions. Nagle tossed to Jack Dugger from behind the 15 into the end zone for the first score late in the initial period. This scoring opportunity was provided when Lindsey of Akron fumbled the toss from center on fourth down, Mansfield covering it on the 31.

After losing a chance to score midway in the second quarter when Nagle's bobble was recovered on the 10 by West, the Tygers started a march from midfield that resulted in the second and last touchdown.

Schwaner tossed to Smith for this score on a play identical to the one on which the first touchdown was registered.

Schwaner kicked both extra centrated on the areial game. Smith did some fine ball carrying, but failed to get away for any lengthy gains as blocking weaknesses interfered

As mentioned before, the Mansfield line held up considering that it was the first game, with Jack Phaler giving a performance that was particularly impressive. points from placement to help the Tygers obtain an advantage that was never threatened

The only time that West threatened was in the fourth period The Cowboys, who did not throw a pass in the first three periods, cut loose with a pair of throws that netted 36 yards to enable them to reach their own 49. There the Mansfield defense held to stave off a further advance

Nagle distinguished himself in every respect in the opener with big Schwaner showing up well defensively Schwaner carried the ball only once as the Tygers con-

A slick intermission show was offered by the Mansfield high school band and drum corps and American Legion drum corps.

Chicago Golfer Plans Transcontinental Match.

HOLLYWOOD. — (U.P.) — J. Smith Ferebee, Chicago broker, pulled out a chrome-shafted driver at dawn today and practiced for a 600-hole, transcontinental golf game that will carry bets of almost $100,000. It was Ferebee who toured 144 holes between sunup and sunset and won $5,000 and half of a Virginia plantation last month.

Ferebee will start Sunday with 72 holes at Lakeside here, jump into the plane and play 72 holes more in Phoenix, Ariz. Then he will board the plane again and head for Kansas City. On Monday he must repeat the schedule at Kansas City and St. Louis; on Tuesday at Chicago and Milwaukee, and Wednesday at Philadelphia and New York. At New York he must play an additional 24 holes to round out an even 600.

Shelby's Grid Hopes Fired By First Win

Whippets Engage Willard at Home Friday.

Football followers over in Shelby are looking forward to one of the best years for their Whippets this season.

Encouraged by the 18 to 0 victory the Whippets scored over Norwalk last Friday, Shelby rooters are expected to pack the home park this week when Coach Bill Query sends his men against Willard.

Last week's victory was the first for Shelby in 13 years on the Norwalk field.

Crestline is another neighboring city which is expecting big things in a football way. With a veteran team back, Crestline walloped St. Mary's of Sandusky, 27 to 13, Saturday. Frye and Ganm were particularly impressive on the offense for the Crestliners.

Crestline goes to Galion Friday night, and Coach Merle Huston's men are not expected to be pushovers for the Orangemen, who opened with a 25 to 7 victory over Mt. Gilead last week.

Bucyrus, which tripped Willard, 19 to 6, in its opener, is host to Fostoria Friday. Fostoria whipped Fostoria St. Wendlin, 45 to 0, last week, so followers of the Redmen have an idea what confronts Bucyrus this week.

Undefeated records will be at stake Friday when Mt. Vernon goes to Newark and Marion invades Delaware.

All of the immediate Class B high school clubs will be in action this week except Mt. Gilead and Loudonville, which will nurse the bruises suffered in their openers.

Madison takes on New London Friday night on the Rams' field, while Bellville goes to Butler, Danville to Dresden, and Ashley to Fredericktown.

ELMSFORD, N. Y.—(INS)—Smooth-swinging Willie Turnesa, youngest member of the famed Turnesa golfing clan and newly-crowned national amateur champion, faces a long reign at the head of the nation's simon-pure golf parade.

So claimed Joe Turnesa, best known of the six professional golfing brothers, who today denied vehemently that Willie, the 23-year-old amateur king, would join the ranks of the "play-for-pay" sextet

Acting as spokesman for the clan Turnesa, Joe, the only other Turnesa to win a major golf title—he won the British professional crown in 1929—told International News Service that Willie's victory over the tough Oakmont layout last week was the fulfillment of the dream of the six pro brothers Willie won the title by eliminating Pat Abbott of California, 8 and 7.

Stars for McKinley

MARION MOTLEY is a name Mansfield football fans should remember Much will be heard from this young boy during the current football season, we understand. He plays a halfback position for Canton McKinley, which is on the Tyger's schedule this year. Saturday this halfback made about 85 per cent of McKinley's gains, scored four touchdowns, threw passes all over the lot and distinguished himself defensively, too, the Bulldogs raced roughshod over Canton Lehman, 48 to 6.

Just one year ago last Friday, Ed Winsper, former Shelby coach, became the proud papa of a husky son. The occasion was celebrated Friday when Winsper's Wooster eleven tripped Dover, 7 to 6.

* * * * *

Mansfield fans witnessed something unusual in kickoffs Saturday as the Tygers ran over Akron West, 14 to 0. Instead of kicking off in the usual manner, the Cowboys' booter drop kicked the kickoffs.

* * * * *

Akron Kenmore, again on the Mansfield high schedule, took a 6 to 2 whipping from Garfield in an opener Saturday, but it may be too early to write an obituary. Kenmore's lineup still includes Bill Miller, one of the finest backs in Akron history.

Merchants Avenge '37 Finals Defeat by Halting Chevies

The Mansfield Merchants brought their baseball season to a close with a 14 to 8 victory over the Mohican Chevrolets at Liberty park Sunday.

The victory enabled the Merchants to avenge the defeat suffered in the city sandlot finals last year.

Keiser's long triple with the bases loaded in the sixth featured the attack for the Merchants, who obtained 13 hits off the delivery of Potye and Al Boyer. It broke a 7 to 7 tie.

The Chevrolets scored a run in the second and two in the third to take a 3 to 0 lead. The Merchants came through with two in the fourth, but the Mohicans extended their lead with three more in the fifth. The Merchants obtained their first lead in the fifth when they scored five runs.

Schmitt did the hurling for the Merchants. He allowed 10 hits and struck out seven.

Clarence Herrick led the attack for the Merchants with three singles

Indians Fail to Gain on Idle Sox With Split

CLEVELAND — (INS)— The Indians today still looked up at the second-place Boston Red Sox, one game ahead, after splitting a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Athletics

After winning the first game, 7 to 3, behind the hurling of Willis Hudlin, the Tribe looked for the cyclone cellars when the A's went wild against Bob Feller, Al Milnar, and Rookies Charley Suche and Clay Smith. The A's scored 14 runs in the seven innings of the darkness-abbreviated nightcap

The Indians collected only three runs off Luther Thomas, all scored after the Athletics had a 12-run lead Boston's game at Chicago was called off and the Indians could have gone into virtual tie for second if they had won both games.

In the opener, the Tribesmen collected only nine hits off Lynn Nelson and Ralph Buxton while Hudlin allowed the A's ten, including home runs by Sam Chapman and Wally Moses but Hud kept the Athletics' blows well scattered Jeff Heath hit his 16th homer of the year in the first game.

The A's had two big scoring sprees in the nightcap. They pounded seven runs across the plate in the fifth with Feller and Milnar on the mound. Suche stopped that rally but got into trouble in the sixth when Connie Mack's boys put across five more tallies. Smith allowed two more runs in the seventh.

Mel Harder and Edgar Smith were to be the opposing pitchers in today's Philadelphia-Cleveland game.

Places Ban on Selling Soft Drinks in Bottles, Girl Injured at Opener.

A ban was placed on selling soft drinks in bottles at Mansfield high school football games by Principal Jesse Beer today after a student was injured by a flying bottle at Saturday's opener.

Three stitches were necessary to close a wound in the forehead of Pauline Hoff, R. D. 1, a sophomere, struck by an empty bottle thrown by an over-enthusiastic fan celebrating the Mansfield victory

Tight Hurling By Patterson Wins For Cues

Pitcher Also Stars at Plate at New London.

The Rex Billiards defeated New London, 7 to 2, at New London Sunday behind the six-hit pitching of Patterson.

Patterson was effective all the way and did not permit New London to cross the plate after the fourth. He set 10 down via the strike out route and issued only one walk.

Staples toiled for New London and the Billiards found him for 13 hits, with Patterson and Cotter doing the heavy work at the plate for the Cuemen.

In addition to his splendid mound performance, Patterson slapped out a home run and triple. Cotter obtained three hits in four trips to the plate.

The Billiards trailed for only one inning. New London scored the last of two runs in the fourth to secure a 2 to 1 advantage, but relinquished it the next inning when Manager John Stoner's men came back with a pair.

Vote Henrich 'Most Popular'

North Park Star Honored at Annual Banquet.

Ed Henrich, brother of Tom Henrich, New York Yankee star, collected well for his hitting ability and popularity at the City Class A softball league banquet at G. B. U park Sunday.

In addition to receiving an award for winning the league batting championship, Henrich was presented with a trophy for being voted the most popular player in the league by his teammates of North park and rivals. Other awards were made to leaders in the averages.

The trophy emblematic of the league championship was presented to John Flockenzier, manager of the North park club. Chester L. Swank served as toastmaster and introduced various speakers, including the league president, Sam Hollingsworth

Art Murray of Wooster college, former coach there and at Ashland college, was the principal speaker. He gave an interesting talk on various sports. He was introduced by Al Fendrick, director of the city recreation department, sponsor of the league.

STANDARD ROOKIES

The Yankees have ruled that all rookies seeking tryouts in the future must weigh at least 150 and stand 5 feet 8 inches.

Yanks Lose Two, Clinch Pennant

Double-header Rained Off Boston's Schedule Enables New York to Gain Third Straight Title.

By SID FEDER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

AND in the confusion, the Yankees found themselves in the world series. The crack belonged to Dazzy Vance originally. But you can borrow it for the occasion. For the Yankees clinched their third straight American league pennant yesterday by losing two games to the St. Louis Browns.

Of course, there's nothing to get excited about. Every one knew Col. Jake Ruppert's hired hands were going to do it over the week-end, give or take a day. But they might just as well have "stood in bed" while it was going on. Rain was the deciding factor. Boston's second-place Red Sox had two games rained off their schedule in Chicago, and that made it mathematically impossible for any club to catch the Yankees.

It's All Over.

Even if Gehrig and company should lose every one of its remaining 13 games, and the Red Sox should take all their 14, the Yanks would finish on top this way:

Club	W	L	Pct.
Yankees	94	59	.614
Red Sox	93	59	.612

You can't say the Yanks sneaked in through the back door, though Not with a 14-game lead right now.

They have power, these Yanks, with five regulars hitting more than 20 homers each so far this season, and the whole bunch, as a team, threatening the all-time high of 182 homers for a season, set by the '36 Yankees. With Rookie Joe Gordon, the second base "find" of the past ten years, speeding up the inner defense, they have an infield second to none. And they have the pitching, topped by big Rufus the Red Ruffing and his 21 victories and Lefty Gomez, No. 1 among baseball's "money" pitchers.

But that made no difference to the Brownies yesterday. They were the "unbeatables"—so the Brownies just beat 'em twice.

Buck Newso fanned 10 and allowed seven hits for a 4-3 opener win, and Harold Clift was a large ball of fire in the 8-7 afterpiece with two homers, a triple and six runs batted in.

This boosted the Brownies out of the league cellar, since the Athletics only broke even in a twin bill in Cleveland. The Indians took the opener, 7-3, and the A's climbed aboard Master Bobby Feller for a 14-3 nightcap edge.

Over in the National league, Pittsburgh's Pirates boosted their lead to 3½ games by winning and tying against the Phillies. Russ Bauer's four-hit hurling and Paul Waner's ninth inning single meant a 1-0 opener victory for the Bucs; then the Phils held on for a 1-1 stalemate before darkness halted the afterpiece in five innings.

Cubs Lose, Tie.

Lefty Vito Tamulis and the Dodgers topped the second-place Chicago Cubs, 4-1, in the Brooklyn opener, and the Dodgers came from behind for a 3-all deadlock in the five-frame nightcap. Third-place Cincinnati and fourth-place New York were rained out.

The Detroit Tigers trampled Washington's Senators, 8-1, in the only other game that escaped the day's downpour.

Rain Plagues U. S. Net Play

Three Semi-Final Tussles Remain on Schedule.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. —(AP)— Rain continues to plague the national tennis championships, already three days in arrears, but nobody is getting hurt because of the fortunate happenstance that all seats for the semi-finals and finals have been sold.

The tournament committee is very level-headed about returning any money that the public once has turned loose. Its policy, simply stated, is never to return any money. So there is every reason to believe that the championships will be concluded one of these days.

Three semi-final tussles remain for today, or one of these days.

Score Three In Ninth to Beat Canzols

Whitney Oils Stage Rally to Win 5-4 Verdict.

Piling up three runs in the last half of the ninth, the Whitney Oils defeated the Ira D. Ling Canzols, 5 to 4, in a baseball game at Lexington Sunday.

The Oils scored one run in the first and did not cross the plate again until the eighth.

Gil Weigand did the twirling for the Canzols, and struck out 14 as he yielded 10 hits. Wiegand also contributed a triple, double and single. Castor set down 12 via the strikeout route.

The Canzols scored two runs in the fourth and two more in the seventh to obtain what appeared like a safe lead.

Leedy, with a triple and double; Shafer and Shaffer, with two singles apiece, led the attack for Lexington.

Musille Team Rallies, Wins

Villella's Home Run Gives Cigars Victory.

The Musille Cigars advanced in the Central Ohio softball tournament in Marion Sunday by defeating the Marion Drake Tavern, 8 to 6. The Cigars overcome a 6 to 2 lead to win out in the last inning on Jimmy Villella's home run. Joe Wentz hit a home run with two out in the fifth.

Dale McKinley scattered 11 hits for the losers and struck out seven. The Cigars will meet the winner of the game between Stone's Grills of Columbus and Marion Merchants next Sunday.

KANSAS CITY ONE GAME AWAY FROM A. A. FINALS

INDIANAPOLIS—(INS)—Kansas City today needed but one victory in the playoff series with Indianapolis to assure it a chance at the winner of the St. Paul-Milwaukee series.

The Blues yesterday defeated the Indians, 6 to 3, to make the series stand 3 and 2 in their favor. St. Paul was rained out at Milwaukee.

Ashland Asks To Play Frosh

ASHLAND—(INS)—Ashland college officials were to confer today with Ohio Conference Commissioner George Daniels to determine if it was feasible to use freshmen players on the varsity football squad.

Only 14 candidates reported for varsity practice and when Virgil Scobey, sophomore end, suffered a broken hand in practice, the squad was pared to 13. Indications were that unless frosh were allowed to play, the school might be forced to abandon the pigskin sport.

RED BIRDS KEEP SERIES ALIVE WITH 3-2 VICTORY

PORTSMOUTH — (AP) — The Mid-Atlantic league's final playoff series went into its sixth game today with Akron holding a three-to-two edge over Portsmouth, loop champs. The Birds kept the series alive with a 3 to 2 victory last night that was earned in the ninth inning when Chester Wieczorek slashed a ball off the score board for a home run. Akron won Saturday night 3 to 2.

Seems like a different house with Tripl-ife

$2 A WEEK Will Buy A Williamson Tripl-life

"The Williamson Heater Company-
Our house is large with big rooms and high ceilings. We had always heated with stoves and had a few comfortable rooms. The rest of the house was without heat. Since getting our furnace we use the whole house and it seems like a different house with the rooms all of uniform heat. It has been the most pleasant winter we have ever had.
What means a great deal to us is that we have operated it on very little more cost than it took to heat just a few rooms."

JUDGE PUFFLE By Gene Ahern

THIRTY YEARS IN THIS NEIGHBORHOOD AND IT'S THE FIRST TIME I'VE SEEN THE JUDGE MOVE FASTER THAN A WADDLE!
NOAH'S BEARD! - I DEEDED MY MOUNTAIN PROPERTY OVER TO MRS. PUFFLE AND THEN TERRY COMES ALONG WITH NEWS THAT A RAILROAD WANTS TO BUILD A TUNNEL THRU THE MOUNTAIN!
HOW CAN I GET THAT DEED BACK? SHE WON'T GIVE IT TO ME, JUST FOR THE ASKING! - I MUST USE DIPLOMACY!
VOTE FOR
HE DOESN'T KNOW THAT TERRY TOLD MRS. PUFFLE ABOUT IT, TOO!

MART INSPIRED BY IMPROVED PEACE OUTLOOK

Leaders Spurt 1 to 5 Points as European Markets Stage Rallies.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—The stock market rallied on a wide front today as world financial centers were heartened by the improved outlook for peaceful settlement of the German-Czech dispute.

Leaders spurted 1 to 5 points in initial transactions and retained the major portion of their gains despite light profit-taking later in the forenoon. Trading was moderately active, with blocks of stock running to 3,000 shares changing hands at the start.

The upswing in the local market was forecast by all-around strength in European security markets prior to the New York opening. Foreign currencies also came back after their sharp declines of recent weeks. The British Pound rallied more than a cent.

Rallying tendencies here were helped along by further advances in important metal prices. Domestic copper again was marked up ⅛ cent to 10⅜ cents a pound, while lead quotations were advanced 10 points. Steel operations, the weekly estimate on which will be announced this afternoon, are expected to continue their upward course.

The market was led upward by steels, coppers, motors, chemicals and blue-chips. Profit-taking in the second hour pared extreme gains somewhat, but the list maintained a strong undertone. Trading quieted down on realizing movements.

'GIFT' TO REICH DRAWS CHEERS

Sudetens, Armed With 40,000 'Free Corps' Troops, Call Mass Meeting Tonight.

themselves here after fleeing Eger, Czechoslovakia. Rercuiting for the Sudeten free corps border attackers was closed today, party headquarters said, with four columns of 10,000 men each "fully equipped with every kind of modern war material."

The first column is said to be operating from Bratislava to Passau; the second from Passau to Hof; the third from Hof to Goerlitz, and the fourth from Goerlitz to Ratibor—encircling Czechoslovakia.

The corps strength has been limited to 40,000 "because of technical difficulties in organization," but headquarters said over 100,000 applications for admission were received.

Thousands of the enlistments, it said, came from Sudetens who lived in Germany prior to the present minorities dispute.

Henlein is the corps' supreme commander. Other officers have not been disclosed. The corps' only nocturnal activity from Sunday to Monday—as reported here—was an assault on Czech gendarmes near Grusback, along the former Austrian frontier.

JAIL TWO MEN

Police Hold Pair in Robbery of East Side Cafe.

Police were holding two middle-aged transients in connection with the burglary of the Fred Miller cafe, First avenue and Orange street, early today.

The pair were taken into custody by Lieut. C. J. Kalstein and Patrolman Gordon Drury, who reported they came upon the men leaving the establishment at 3 a. m.

The officers said as they flashed their lights on the pair as they fled down an alley, one of the men tossed an iron bar into the weeds.

When searched, $5 in change and two bottles of wine were found on their person, police said.

Officers said the men confessed breaking a rear window in the establishment and then looting a music machine of the money, and taking two bottles of wine. No charges had been placed against the pair at noon today.

$2,000 BLAZE HITS CHURCH

German-Hungarian Society's Structure on Grace Street Destroyed by Fire.

Fire, believed to have started from an overheated furnace, today had reduced the German-Hungarian Religious society's church at Grace and Pearl streets to four charred walls. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

The blaze which started in the basement, had enveloped the two-story structure before firemen arrived.

They were notified by a milk vendor who saw the flames shooting from the roof of the building while he was making his rounds at 2:30 a. m.

Firemen from companies Nos. 2 and 4 under the direction of Fire Chief Charles J. Seeburger battled the blaze for more than three hours before bringing it under control.

The fire burned through the roof and gutted the entire inside of the church.

The German-Hungarian Religious society had only recently purchased the building and had moved from former headquarters on North Main street. The structure was formerly occupied by the Grace Community Methodist church.

GUNMAN GETS $400

CLEVELAND —(UP)— While scores of workers and early shoppers hurried past one of Cleveland's busiest intersections, East Ninth street and Euclid avenue, a bandit held up George Koney, 34, manager of a Postal Telegraph Co. branch nearby, and escaped with $400 today.

BRITAIN, FRANCE SURRENDER TO NAZIS DEMANDS

Cabinets Vote Final Approval of 'Deal' Giving Sudeten Territory to Reich.

ternoon that Chamberlain's second meeting with Hitler would be arranged for Wednesday or Thursday at Godesberg, one of the fuehrer's favorite spots on the Rhine.

There the British prime minister is expected to give answer to the demands made by the German leader in their first historic meeting last Thursday at Hitler's mountain retreat on Obersalzberg, in Bavaria.

Following today's two-hour cabinet meeting Chamberlain continued his conferences with his foreign minister, Viscount Halifax, and Viscount Runciman, back from an unsuccesshful mediation mission in Czechoslovakia, over the luncheon table.

In most British minds remained the question whether Czechoslovakia, even with the offer of general guarantees for the future, would give up her present frontier through the Sudetenland, a natural mountain bastion against German studded with guns and fortifications aganst invasion.

It was this frontier which was traced by the map-makers of the peace conference for the express purpose of keeping Germany beyond the Sudeten mountains.

A date for the assembly of parliament was expected to be fixed after Chamberlain returns from Godesberg.

Shortly after the cabinet meeting opened King George returned to Buckingham palace from Windsor to be in a position for easier consultation by his ministers.

Meanwhile informed persons expressed belief that Soviet Russia may hold the key to settlement of the Czech crisis since Britain and France now appear ready to surrender Sudetenland to Hitler.

Czechoslovakia could resist effectively the taking of her territory if aided by Russia, some observers said. The little republic in that event might become another Spain an ideological battle ground between the Nazi and the communist state.

Without Russian aid, it is felt here, the Czechs would have little chance, since French and British assistance might be withheld unless the Anglo-French plan for ending the crisis is accepted.

Czechoslovakia consistenly has insisted she will fight rather than give up her territory, and the Czech Premier Hodza yesterday sharply rejected any idea of a plebiscite for the Sudeten Germans to vote to be annexed by Germany.

In 'Complete Agreement.'

Premier Chamberlain of Britain, Premier Daladier of France and their key ministers in conference here yesterday reached "complete agreement" on how to work for peace in the Czech dispute with the nation's German speaking minority.

The communique did not detail the plan. The plan followed upon Premier Chamberlain's meeting at Berchtesgaden with Chancellor Hitler last Thursday, and apparently acceded to his demands.

Reliable quarters said agreement was reached not to fight to preserve present-day Czechoslovakia, but to urge the republic to give over her Sudeten German territory to Hitler.

Britain and France would then propose that Germany, Italy, Poland, Hungary and Rumania join with them in a seven-power guarantee of the new and smaller Czechoslovakia.

This would mean cancellation of Czechoslovakia's present defensive Alliances with Russia and France.

The Russian military agreement with the Czechs depends on the now waning French support, but it is felt in some quarters that Russia would help the Czechs anyway.

General belief here was that Britain and France proposed the transfer of Czech Sudetenland to Germany by direct negotiation, without a plebiscite.

The problems of other minorities would be worked out later—if the Czech government consented—with the aid of the British mediation mission, headed by Viscount Runciman.

With government approval Premier Chamberlain likely will take his plan to Hitler at Godesberg, Germany, by Wednesday for their second meeting within a week.

First, however, an effort is to be made to convince Czechoslovakia that the plan is best for the peace of Europe and therefore for the republic itself.

The "complete agreement" was reached after more than 12 hours of almost continuous consultation. Premier Daladier, Foreign Minister Bonnet and their aides flew back to Paris this morning.

TAX RATES CUT IN 14 DISTRICTS

Six Subdivisions to Have Higher Figure, Six to Remain Same.

will drop seven mills, from 21.40 this year to 14.40. Expiration of a five-mill operating levy and a two-mill drop in debt retirement needs accounted for the huge cut, the auditor said.

The village will vote on a new three-mill operating levy for three years at the November election, and it will be added to the present rate if it passes.

An increase of three mills was made in Sharon township which has the lowest rate in the county. The rate there next year will be 8 80 mills as compared with 5.80 mills now, the increase providing additional operating funds.

Most of the decreases were due to reductions in bonded indebtedness, the auditor pointed out.

Rates for other districts in the county include:

Bloominggrove township, 10.60 mills, same as this year. Butler township, 13 mills, same, Cass township, 13.20, down .20, Shiloh, 18 60, down 20; Franklin township, 12 40, down .20. FAMILY TROUBLES KEEP POLICE ON JUMP IN WEE SMALL HOURS

It was 2:30 a m. Sunday at police headquarters and ordinarily things are usually rather quiet at that time so Deskman Paul Martin lolled in his chair bent on reading a mystery tale.

But it was not to be so quiet as Martin soon found out.

The telephone rang and an excited voice came over the wire. "Send the police out to Ausdale avenue—quick—someone is killing a woman."

Martin sprang into action and his voice boomed over the police radio—"Car 4 go to —— Ausdale avenue, family trouble"

"Car 4" went to Ausdale avenue and found a man and his wife engaged in a free-for-all they said, and the woman wanted her husband arrested for beating her, and would they take him and lock him up?

The police accommodated and took the pair to the station where the woman CHANGED HER MIND—she didn't want her husband locked up and decided that she wouldn't sign the affidavit.

Police released him.

Exactly three hours later Martin again answered the telephone This time it was the husband calling to tell the police that his wife was sitting in the car in front of their home and blowing the horn, and would they come out and put a stop to it so he could go to sleep.

But the weary deskman had heard all about the horn blowing from several neighbors who had called to complain that they couldn't sleep — and on Sunday morning, too.

So Car 4 made another trip to Ausdale avenue and this time they warned the woman who had "ceased firing" and was in the house that another display of temper would cost her a stay in jail.

Miss Simpson, who now moves about on artificial legs, in her suit asked $15,000 for her father and $250,000 in her own behalf.

PRAGUE: Czechs Stand Firm Against Any Loss of Territory

(By United Press)

PRAGUE — From conferences begun at dawn came hints shortly before noon today that Czechoslovakia, hard pressed diplomatically, would stand firmly by decisions to defend her territory against revision.

The official press bureau issued a statement saying the government was studying the Anglo-French decision to meet Adolf Hitler's demands "in the light of recent statements by President Eduard Benes and Premier Milan Hodza"

The president had emphasized Czechoslovakia's "courage to face the situation" and Hodza in a radio address yesterday said flatly there would be no plebiscite.

Citizens were advised to preserve calm to give the government effective evidence of support

"The Anglo-French conclusions are being studied from the standpoint of vital interests throughout the country," said the inspired press bureau statement

"These interests can be defended only if the people preserve calm . . . and fullest confidence in the government."

Basil Cochrane Newton, British minister, and Victor Leapold De LaCroix, French minister, visited Foreign Minister Kamil Krofta to explain the peace plan agreed upon by France and Britain yesterday.

Both ministers wanted indications as to the course the Czechoslovak government would take. There was no official word but it was apparent the Anglo-French plan was encountering stiff resistance in Prague

CITY SET FOR SCHOOL VOTE

Fate of Proposed $550,000 Bond Issue to Be Decided at Election Tomorrow.

workers did part of their job—getting every possible elector qualified—was attested by the fact that 2,125 voters either registered or transferred at the board of election since the August primary—a record for any city election.

How well they did the rest of their job—support for the school bonds — only tomorrow's election will tell.

Points To Simpson Problem.

"If the bond issue fails, Mansfield faces the prospect of several years of half-day junior high school classes," Harold W. Arlin, president of the board of education, said today.

"Closing of the third floor of the John Simpson building by the state last week forced the board to order half-day schedules at that building, and there is no hope of anything better until new buildings are provided," he said.

"The city probably will never get another offer of a $450,000 junior high school free if it turns down the $550,000 bond issue tomorrow."

The $450,000 PWA grant, already authorized, will build one of the two proposed junior high schools, provided the city agrees to build the other and pay for modernizing the elementary buildings, Arlin pointed out.

"Since figures show that half of the city's 1,600 junior high pupils live east of Bowman street and the other half on the west side of the street, the two new buildings would be centrally located," the board president said

The John Simpson building is on Bowman street, and the proposed Johnny Appleseed building, which would be built at Cline avenue and Wood street, would be only a short distance off a line south from Bowman street, Arlin explained.

Polls Open at 6:30 a. m.

Polls will open at 6:30 a. m. tomorrow and will remain open until 6:30 in the evening.

A reduced staff of precinct officials will handle the voting at the special election, with four persons assigned to each precinct voting place instead of the usual six.

In the Mansfield district, 212 election officials will be in charge, including 200 in the 50 precincts in the city and 12 more in precincts C, D, and E, in Madison township which are a part of the city school district

The cut in the election staff is made at every special election, to reduce costs and because fewer judges and clerks are needed to tabulate the votes on a single issue, board of election officials said.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates warned liquor permit holders today that the regular election schedule for their establishments will be in effect tomorrow because of the special election. No liquor or 6 per cent beer can be sold in the city until 7 p. m., a half hour after the polls close, Bates said.

State liquor stores here also will be closed tomorrow.

The proposed $1,000,000 building program, as set up by the board of education following a survey of the city's school building needs, would give Mansfield's 6,400 pupils two new junior high school buildings costing $450,000 each, a $25,000 addition to Senior high school, and modern toilet and sanitation facilities at the Hedges, Bowman, Newman, Bushnell, Brinkerhoff, Prospect, Carpenter and West Fifth street schools.

While Mansfield is voting tomorrow, the Union rural school district in Weller and Franklin townships, north of the city, will decide a $75,900 bond issue which would provide for a new $138,000 high school and elementary building near the center of the two-township district. An anticipated PWA grant for $62,100 would supplement the district.

GET COMFORTING RELIEF FROM Runny HEAD COLD

DO THIS: Put some Vicks VapoRub up each nostril and sniff well back. You'll feel better right away. Next, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water; then breathe in the steaming medicated vapors for several minutes. This loosens phlegm and further clears the air-passages. At bedtime, rub VapoRub on throat, chest, and back so that its long-continued double action can relieve the misery of the cold while you sleep. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice; at the same time its medicated vapors, breathed in direct, bring comfort to the irritated air-passages. Try it.

Doc, I bought these teeth at a bargain but I want you to put them in!

IMAGINE the amazement of your dentist if you went to him with a set of "store teeth" you purchased at a bargain and asked him to fit them in your mouth.

Your dentist knows that your health, comfort and well-being depend upon his ability to select teeth which will exactly meet your individual requirements—perfect matching of the teeth to assure a natural appearance and expert fitting to afford satisfactory service for many years.

Neither good teeth nor good plumbing can be purchased economically "over the counter". Plumbing fixtures too, must be of assured quality, carefully selected to meet your requirements, harmoniously matched to enhance the appearance of your home and installed by experienced hands to assure health protection, satisfactory service and real economy.

Good plumbing is vital to the health of your family for it means the delivery of pure water and the safe removal of dangerous waste matter. It can mean much more than the good health of your family alone, because water contamination can endanger the health of an entire community. Good plumbing is so vital that you should be sure that your present plumbing is good.

Entrust your plumbing only to Master Plumbers. They have the knowledge, skill and experience necessary to assure safe, healthful, economical plumbing. Buy your fixtures from them. Place upon them the entire responsibility, as you would upon your dentist.

Your Master Plumber can recommend the "Standard" Plumbing Fixtures best suited for your requirements, help you plan a new bathroom, powder room or kitchen, and arrange the financing on low F.H.A. terms. And remember, "Standard" Plumbing Fixtures, sold through Master Plumbers, cost no more than others.

PALMER HEADS M. E. DISTRICT

Mansfielder Renamed for 15th Consecutive Term at North East Ohio Conference.

Sidney L. Palmer was re-elected president of the Mansfield District of the Methodist Episcopal church for the 15th consecutive year at closing sessions of the annual North East Ohio Lay conference Saturday in Cleveland.

The lay conference was held in conjunction with the annual North East Ohio conference of the Methodist church.

One of the resolutions adopted by the conference recommended that the districts of the conference be reduced from eight to seven and that the cost of administration be reduced accordingly. Palmer said it was not known what districts would be combined when the reduction is made.

One of the main speakers was Dr. Harold Paul Sloan, editor of "New York Christian Advocate." The next conference meeting will be held in September 1939 at Lakeside.

Also attending the conference from Mansfield are Rev. E. G. Corwin, pastor of the First Methodist church, Rev. Paul Hollingshead, pastor of the Central Methodist church, and Rev. W. H. Peterson, superintendent of the Mansfield district. Appointment of ministers was to be made at 4 p. m. today. The two Mansfield pastors are expected to be returned.

STORM ON WAY

Tropical Hurricane Moving Toward Florida Coast.

NEW ORLEANS, La.—(INS)—The United States weather bureau ordered northeast storm warnings hoisted from Jacksonville to Key West, Fla., today as a tropical hurricane moved toward the Florida coast from the ocean at the rate of 20 miles an hour.

The hurrican division of the weather bureau, fixed the location of the storm at a point 650 miles east-southeast of Miami and stated that the tropical disturbance apparently was moving in a west-northwestardly direction.

If the present direction and rate of movement is maintained, the bureau said, the storm will reach the southeast Florida coast Tuesday morning with winds starting to increase tonight.

The Florida east coast is also in the "danger zone," the bureau said, urging that "all interests are urged to stand by for possible hurricane warnings during the day."

NAMED BY UNION

Mansfielder Elected to District Electrical Workers Post.

Lowell Morgan, Mansfield, was elected alternate vice president of District 7, United Electrical, Radio & Machine Workers of America, at a meeting of the Seventh District in Mansfield yesterday, at the Richland County Industrial Council hall, North Park street.

Morgan, employed at the Ideal Electric & Manufacturing company here, is a member of Local 705 of the electrical workers' union. He takes office Oct. 28, replacing Walter Scott, Cleveland.

District Seven of the UER & MWA covers Ohio and Kentucky, and consists of all local unions in that territory affiliated with the electrical workers' union, a CIO affiliate.

Morgan will act as district president of the union on occasions when Joseph Vejlupek, Cleveland, who was elected to the chief post at yesterday's meeting, is unable to be present.

HUNT FIRE BUG

N. Y. Police Spread Net After 50 Families Flee Flames.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A fire bug authorities believed to be an "alcoholic pyromaniac" terrorized 50 families in six Brooklyn apartment houses early today, driving them into the streets in their night clothes.

The fires broke out within a space of 50 minutes in the Brownsville section of Brooklyn, all but one in rubbish in the basements. The sixth fire was in a baby carriage near the stairway landing of the top floor.

Fire Marshal Thomas P. Brophy ordered an immediate and widespread search of the section. He said he was convinced the fires were started by an "alcoholic pyromaniac"

BODY FOUND IN WRECKED PLANE

Victim Found In Swamp Believed To Be Sportsman.

CAMDEN, N. J.—(INS)—A body believed to be that of Howard H. Green, 38, wealthy sportsman pilot and vice president of the Kendall Oil company, of Bradford, Pa., was found today in the wreckage of a plane in a cranberry swamp, 20 miles outside this city.

Lost in a heavy fog, the aviator apparently attempted a pancake landing and was killed when his plane buried itself deep in the swamp.

Green had taken off from Atlantic City at 5 p. m. yesterday. The crash was discovered today by John Brick, of Medford, N. J., manager of the cranberry bog

FOR THIRD TERM

WPA Group Promises Roosevelt Backing of 3,000,000.

NEW YORK—(AP)—An organization known as the WPA Employment Association of America has written to President Roosevelt that it proposes to "mould an army of 3,000,000 men and women and their dependents" to keep him in office and to vote only for those congressional candidates "willing to support your recommendations and legislative program."

Raymond B. Meisnere, president of the association, last night issued a copy of the communication.

Meisnere, in his letter to the president, attacked an existing WPA union known as the Workers Alliance as bearing "the taint of Communism."

Meisnere went on to say that 1,000 members had been enrolled in less than a week. He added that the organization would hold a "monster rally" here soon, and asked the president to address it.

ENDS 'FIRST LAP'

Mansfielder Spends Week-Ends in Jail in Non-Support Case.

Sentenced to spend his week-ends in the county jail for failure to support his wife, Zera Baker, 39, of 173½ East Third street, was released at 5:30 a. m. today to return to his job after serving the "first lap" of his sentence.

Baker, who was said to have owed more than $200 in support money, must go to jail from noon Saturday until Monday morning every week until he pays up, under an order of Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston.

★ Millions of tiny dust particles are grinding away in your clothes . . . Under a microscope these particles show sharp, cutting edges like the emery that is used to cut steel.

Grinding away at the very heart of the thread that is woven into your garment are millions of sharp, cutting abrasives . . . Absorbed by the garment out of the air of home, office and street these tiny "emery wheels" go to work with every movement of the body to exact their toll of wear . . . There is one cleaning process that safely removes all of these tiny abrasives and lengthens garment life—That process is known as MIRACLEAN . . . But this process does more . . . MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1938.

Careful observation discloses that "rush week" at colleges is not in the direction of books.

Fearing that people fifty years from now might not have anything to worry about, we are providing the material.

It now seems that a majority of California voters will favor the $30-every-Thursday plan—and some will probably regret that they didn't make it $40.

Time for Clear Thinking.

AMERICANS, as a whole, have rather good minds. They don't always use them to the best advantage, but when they really need to, they can always "Turn a keen, untroubled gaze, Home, to the instant need of things."

With war in Europe raging, or about to rage, or postponing the raging, Americans had better start using their minds. Functioning on the emotions is never a good plan, and least of all when emotional strain can so easily lead to mob hysteria.

The air is full of emotion at present, hardly to be avoided. To everyone old enough to remember clearly anything about the World war, there is profound depression in these present days. The mere sight of maps on the front pages of newspapers, of military terms creeping into editorial comment, a glance at a half-knitted sweater are enough to fill the air with grief and dread. Must we go through all that again?

The young are half-frightened, half-excited, not too sure of their own attitude. Young and old alike are conscious of the stimulation of the situation, of sensitive reactions to new, strange circumstances, of curiosity and suspense.

Some old Hindu had a word of advice: "Thou shalt not let thy senses make a playground of thy mind."

Now, if ever, America needs cool, clear thought. It is remote in space from the scene of action abroad. It must hold itself detached in its attitude. Americans must restrain their emotions. For themselves and for the world they must use their keen, sane minds.

Forty Cents Makes You a Driver.

THESE are busy days in the offices of the Richland County Automobile club, basement of the Elks' home.

New drivers' licenses, which must be secured before October 1, are being issued, under the loose Ohio licensing law which permits almost anybody, who pays 40 cents, to get a license to drive an automobile, without regard for qualification, physical or mental handicaps, or drinking habits.

Other states have found it advisable, in the interest of public safety, to establish reasonable restrictions in the issuance of drivers' licenses. Not so in Ohio.

This state, with its disgraceful record of dangerous driving and widespread disregard for traffic regulations, stands high in the list for traffic accidents and fatalities.

Until something more effective is done in the matter of withholding driving privileges from habitually careless or reckless drivers, persons who drive after drinking intoxicants, and others who fails to pass reasonable physical and mental tests, it seems fair to regard the Ohio drivers' law as little more than a fee grabber, rather than a contribution to traffic safety.

Jack Warwick Has Written a Book.

THE SECRET has finally leaked out. Jack Warwick, long-time paragrapher for the Toledo Blade, has written a book!

Disclosure comes in the form of an article in the Blade, written by son Howard, one-time cub reporter on the Mansfield News in a successful make-good showing without benefit of paternal influence.

Jack Warwick, we'd have you know, is of the old school of newspaper paragraphers, whose terse quips and condensed bits of philosophy float about from one newspaper to another (with credit) until they are finally put aside to serve the purposes of radio entertainers in later years.

Even as a little boy, Howard looked forward to the time when his Dad would write a book—but hay fever, an old double keyboard typewriter, and one thing or another always seemed to interfere. And so the years passed. But now the book has been written—titled "All In a Lifetime."

With a foreword by Grove Patterson and drawings by Charles Wittenbrook, it appears that this is the kind of a book that many people will want to own—not only to read once but to be turned to many times.

The Deadly Weed.

POSSIBLY there has been too much publicity about marijuana. Not about the evil effects of this evil weed when used for smoking tobacco, especially among children, but about its appearance, its growth in so many unexpected places, its discovery and destruction in public view, or with the knowledge of the public.

Every little while there seems to be some such publicity that makes large numbers of people conscious of the accessibility of the weed and perhaps starts curious people to looking for it and experimenting with it. By this time it is no secret that the villainous plant grows naturally and freely in a great many places, that it is easily planted and cultivated, and so on. Public warnings are needed. But the best way in any definite instance would seem to be to dispose of the stuff without saying anything about it.

American Defense.

A NEWS ITEM making the imminence of general war more real states that the war department had awarded contracts for anti-aircraft guns and carriages at a cost of $10,000,000.

This means that our own country now finds it necessary to multiply many times its existing means of defense against invasion by air.

War, to the American, has been, for more than half a century, something fought a long way off. American men have lost their lives, but American territory has remained safe. But if a general war should ensue, under present conditions, no country is safe.

Civilized man improves everything except himself.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—About 30 years ago the United States had a share in freezing Germany out of expansion in Morrocco, and well informed opinion here is that the position of this country now plays a tremendous part in Europe's calculations, on the German-Czechoslovakian affair.

Did England, for instance, harden her attitude toward Hitler before taking a precautionary sniff at the breeze blowing from America?

America's present part is altogether unofficial, in contrast with Theodore Roosevelt's participation in the Morrocco affair.

It is considered certain here that the German government, as well as the British, Czechs, Russians and French, gives much consideration to the part the U. S would play in event Europe should be plunged into war.

Primarily these countries may simply set up a series of questions to which there can be no pat answers, since the official position of the country is a sort of watchful neutrality.

Europe Looks to U. S.

BUT the sentimental as well as the official position of the country with regard to aggressive nations is well known. At present it obviously is not friendly toward a Nazi invasion of Cechoslovakia.

We have a neutrality act prohibiting shipments of arms to belligerent nations. That section of the law supposedly is mandatory upon the President. But another important section is discretionary, Under it the President is at liberty to permit American ships to carry food and certain raw materials to warring nations. In event of war and an effective British blockade of German ports, would the President permit American ships to pour needed supplies into French and English ports? England already has made known publicly it hopes for revision of the neutrality act to make certain it can tap the American market in an emergency.

Again, it is felt certain here that foreign offices are asking questions about possible changes, both in American sentiment and in American legislation.

The Lesson of 1914.

THE role America plays in the present Czechoslovakian affair is considered far greater than the meager part it had prior to the outbreak of the World war in 1914 Quantities of diplomatic correspondence as well as comment of diplomatic officials here discloses that European nations paid little attention in 1914 to any part the U. S. might play in the World war. Only after the nations, much to their seeming surprise, discovered that the war was likely to last years and years instead of a few months, did they start tapping the U. S. reservoir of resources.

There are no answers to be obtained here as to what the U. S would do in event of a big European war simply because the answer is not known. Some suspect that, as England reiterates, it would be hard to determine how widely the conflagration might spread. Others insist that the burnt nation avoids the fire and that the U. S. was adequately burned in the World war, to no great purpose.

One thing is certain, future European and present Asiatic wars already have cost the country plenty. Remember our expanding army? and the last congress' billion dollar navy bill?

SPEAKING OF HEROES!

Racial and Religious War Basis

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—If there is another world-size war soon, will the United States be less likely to get into it than the last time? —or more so?

It can plausibly be argued that, having had one rather recent experience, we reasonably can be expected to have more sense, for quite a while to come, than we had on the previous occasion. Our neutrality legislation hints at such a conclusion.

Nevertheless, in the face of a much blacker outlook than seemed to confront the nations in early 1914, American sentiment unmistakably tends far more strongly than it did then toward the idea that we can't keep out of the next anticipated struggle. In fact, for a year and a half after Europe went homicidally loco nearly a quarter of a century back, we didn't realize that the conflict was pretty certain ultimately to involve us also. We know better now—as to what may be coming.

IMPARTIAL THEN

Another thing. We were fairly impartial in 1914. Our sympathy was a bit pro-English, mainly, I think, for the linguistic reason. And it was mildly pro-French, on account of Lafayette principally. And we were sorry for Belgium.

Still, we weren't violently unsympathetic toward the Central Powers.

The countries weren't aligned at that juncture as they are today, anyway.

We're democratic. So are, and were, Britain and France.

That's a tie at present, but it wasn't so strong a tie in 1914, because the rest of the world wasn't so very undemocratic up to then, either.

Our globe wasn't divided into a group of democracies on one side, and a group of dictatorships on the opposite side.

Germany and Austria, though kaiseristic, were moderately responsible to their respective reichstags. Italy had quite a satisfactory parliamentary government. Spain was fairly answerable to its cortez, or congress. The Scandinavias, Holland and Switzerland were, and are, somewhat more democratic than we are. Even Russia, with its duma, was becoming slightly liberalized. The Ottoman Empire had been semi-modernized by the Young Turks.

Things looked pretty good for democracy.

It didn't appear that democracy had got to FIGHT for itself. Apparently it was gaining ground fast—automatically.

To be sure, getting into the Far East, Japan had its crazy military class, but it wasn't overly ebullient. It didn't look dangerous. It wasn't hooking up with western despotism—for, at that stage of the game, there weren't any of the latter, possibly excepting Russia, which Japan traditionally is at outs with.

DIFFERENT TODAY

Today the situation's altogether different.

Democracy seems to be placed in the position of having to fight for its life—maybe.

Absolutism prevails in Germany and Italy, and is spreading. It is gaining in Spain. Japan is having a hard time with it in the Orient, but he Japs' chances there are a little better than 50-50.. Russia, for international political reasons, superficially is pro-democratic, tut it isn't dependable. Turkey doesn't signify. Neither do the little countries—the Scandinavias, Holland, et cetera. Their influence is only moral, and morality doesn't count a cent's worth.

The last world war was economic. There's some reason to that.

The next one is going to be racial and religious.

I can take sides on an economic question. I cannot take sides on a racial or a religious one.

Yet race and religion seem to be the current issues.

And they're going to prevail; I'd gamble on it.

Think of going into a war on such issues!

Timely Editorial

A Civilized Frontier.

Canada's unfortified frontier was lamented in a letter to the London Times of 100 years ago, reprinted in a current issue of the Times. The letter was from an English traveler who had visited Canada and pointed out that it was dangerously open to invasion from the United States.

How quaint it all sounds now! In the hundred years that have passed since the letter was written Canada and the United States have had serious differences. All have been settled on a reasonable basis. No one on either side ever thought of the unfortified frontier as a factor.

This history shows again that the essential factor in civilized international relations is the will to keep the peace. Unhappily the European dictatorships are stressing the importance of the will to fight to attain national ends. If they keep pushing this idea they might wreck the world, as Spain and China are being wrecked today.—Kansas City Star.

Health Advice

Body Adapts Against Dangers.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

In the preceding article we undertook a philosophic view of the human body placed in the universe. We pointed out the intricacy of its mechanism and the many dangers to which it is exposed.

Today I want to emphasize the ability the body has to adapt itself to dangers from without and within. Much as one might deprecate the way the body is put together in some ways—Helmholtz, the greatest scientist of all time, said that if an optical maker had sent him the human eye; he would have returned it as the most imperfect instrument he ever saw, and the ear is a botch—still one must admire this alert and uncanny ability on the part of the body to make the best of things.

The development of immunity to infectious diseases is probably the best example. With the enormous number of bacteria in the world and their rapid power of reproduction, and their tendency to invade the human body, they would destroy every vestige of human life on the planet if it were not for the natural defenses the body has against them. It can throw up a wall defensive against their onslaught in the form of a ring of white blood corpuscles, it can develop chemicals in the blood which will dissolve the bacteria complete, or render their activity innocuous. Certainly this function of the body is the one that preserves health the most.

But this is only the beginning of the body's defense mechanisms. When you injure your finger or have rheumatism in your finger you have pain. You may regard the pain as a disadvantage, as a symptom, even as the disease itself. But, as a matter of fact, it is a defensive mechanism, which prevents your moving your finger, makes you protect it, so that it can have rest and heal.

Every once in a while a patient comes in great perturbation to the doctor and says his heart is enlarged. It may be perfectly true, but that is an adaptive reaction. The heart had more work to do for some reason and, like all muscles, when it has more work to do, it enlarges.

High blood pressure is another adaptive measure. People speak of high blood pressure as if it were a disease and as if it should be reduced. What happens is that the arteries and blood vessels have gotten stiff with age. It is easier to keep fluid circulating in a closed set of tubes if the tubes are elastic. The fluid can keep circulating in them at lower pressure. When they get stiff, you have to have a higher pressure to maintain the circulation at all. If you did not have high blood pressure, the organism would die.

These are only a few examples of the wonderful power of the body to adapt. We are inclined to think of fever and pain and enlarged heart and high blood pressure as enemies. They are really friends.

A Farmer's Diary

The Meadow Nook.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I SEATED myself at the upper corner of a lovely meadow nook. On the north side, a small creek flowed along a hedge of tall willows, that kept the stream within a definite straight course, when heavy rains occurred.

I could easily see what had happened before these trees were planted, for near the center of this narrow, level strip of land, was low ground that showed a fluvial bed. I could also observe this curving line by hints of swamp grass that grew among the clover.

From where I sat and viewed this little cove, I thought I could see back through the ages to a mighty forest that had rested deep and silent on all the surrounding hills. This nook had been the camping spot of Indians, then . . . all of a sudden I was delightfully disturbed by the movement of some dry leaves only a few feet from me. A second more and I saw a little, furry face.

A chipmunk raised up on his haunches. His cheeks were pouched out very wide, so that his jaws looked deep and heavy. He stood there, motionless, then quickly dived into his burrow beneath the roots of a willow stump.

I crawled over to investigate this hermitage, and looked closely at the path he must have traveled . . . but found no path, no trail, not even a misplaced blade of grass. I knew he had been laying in a store of food, for his contenance had betrayed him. I hid and watched.

Along the border of an adjacent field, the farmer had left a strip of wheat straw uncut. Many of the heads of grain wre shattered out, yet a number remained intact. After nearly half an hour I saw my lively friend make rapid, uncertain leaps toward the fallen wheat. He grabbed the heads with his forepaws and stripped them clean with his teeth, then spat out the chaff. He did this many times until his cheeks grew large, as I had seen them first.

The little fellow takes only what he can use, and leaves the rest for others of his kind.

Young America Says—

Prospective Husbands Should Get More Pay.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WEDDING BELLS AND "BLESSED EVENT"—Should they rate a raise for the Blushing Bridegroom or the Prospective Pape?

There's a question that's being chewed in more lunch hours than you might guess.

Should a Husband's—or, for that matter, a Wife's—domestic status have anything to do with his or her industrial value?

'IT CERTAINLY SHOULD," says 23-year-old Kenneth Nelson, of Diboll, Tex. "The old saying that 'two can live as cheaply as one' is definitely untrue. Yet when a young man has met the girl of his dreams, he should be able to marry, for his own good and his country's. BUT HOW CAN HE MARRY IF HE ISN'T MAKING ENOUGH SALARY TO KEEP HIMSELF MORE THAN JUST ALIVE?

"If he has been a good worker, honest, efficient and trustworthy, I think the employer should take his desire to get married into consideration. There are lots of bosses who pay their workers only what they think it will take for them to get by on. They don't take the long view and realize that a wage that allows a man to keep his self-respect and enlarge his horizon, makes a better worker of him. IF THEY WOULD ONLY STOP TO THINK JUST HOW MUCH A SMALL RAISE WOULD MEAN TO A YOUNG MAN WHO WANTS TO SETTLE DOWN AND MARRY, I think there would be a lot more happiness in this world.

"As it is, lots of young men hope it, and marry on a small income, AND FAIL TO MAKE ENDS MEET. Then we have another divorce. So I say, if a young man is a good worker, and asks a raise because he wants to get married, GIVE IT TO HIM."

Kenneth Nelson, age 23,
Diboll, Texas.
($10 prize winner)

There's Man-Sized Economics in that letter. I'd like to print some Big Boss' answer. Is the youngster right in thinking that a happier heart makes a bigger production record? YOU tell!

* * *

NEXT, here's a come-back to that leading rumpus-raiser of the early Fall season—"WHICH IS THE BETTER CHOICE FOR A YOUNG AMERICAN — A WHITE COLLAR POSITION OR A HICKORY SHIRT JOB?"

"WHITE COLLAR EVERY TIME!" says S. K. Parkhurst, of Seattle, Wash.

"The White Collar person learns assurance, poise and sophistication at an early age; and, believe me, these traits are necessary in life. They help a person enjoy himself, his friends and life because he has confidence in himself. Sometimes it's years before a Work Shirt job develops into a real positoin, but by then it's too late for the person to learn the more important things of handling himself and getting along with the other fellow.

"It sounds well to say that one should 'start in at the bottom of the ladder,' but the sad truth is that one frequently stays there. He is either contented to stay there as time goes on or he develops an inferiority complex. And neither of these can be considered 'a break.'

'The 'back to the soil' idea may be a good one, but the popular theory that the toilers are 'the backbone of the nation' is just another sentimental idea. Actually, both types are indispensable. Don't misunderstand me: I have every admiration in the world for the work-shirt job, but I believe that the White Collar position is just as difficult, complicated and necessary. And where would civilization be without literature, art, music and other gifts donated by the White Collar worker?

"I DON'T BELIEVE IN THE PLAN THAT A PERSON MUST GET ACQUAINTED WITH THE OVERALLS BEFORE HE CAN REALLY BE WORTHY OF THE WHITE SUIT. IF HE'S A WORTHWHILE PERSON AT ALL HE CAN START IN AT THE TOP JUST AS WELL. A BEGINNER HAS A HARD TIME AS IT IS, SO WHY NOT GIVE HIM THE ADDITIONAL BOOST OF SELF-CONFIDENCE WHICH THE WHITE COLLAR POSITION PROVIDES?"

S. K. Parkhurst—age 24,
Seattle, Wash.
($10 prize winner.)

But young Bill Davis, of Martinez, Calif., votes for the HICKORY SHIRT.

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"Spiritually and industrially the work-shirt job is the best choice for us beginners.

"Spiritually the work-shirt job is a vent for the young man's excess energy—gives him new things to think about and learn each day. It holds the adventure which we all crave and need, while the office job is full with the same old routine day after day.

"Most of the White Collar positions that are offered young men are stagnant positions. You have heard, 'He's going to start from the bottom and work up.' But does he? Most young men waste their best years in these positions until they get sent out into the field, where they start to learn and where they should have gone in the first place to learn the fundamentals and get experience."

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—In your studies amid the more curious of Manhattan's fauna you must not overlook the chorus girl. For she is unique. And, as a class, no contemporary appraisal of New York would be complete without her.

Usually she comes from a small town. She shares an apartment with one, or two, or three other girls, thus minimizing the rent and providing a measure of companionship. She rises about noon, breakfasts on a cracker and a ripe olive, and wanders off to the theater for an afternoon performance or rehearsal.

Her income is about $35 a week. If she works in a nightclub she reports about 6 p. m. and is off about 2 a. m. In years she ranges between 16 and 22, and she would not be averse to winning (a) a wealthy husband, (b) an opportunity to become a star on Broadway. Now pull yourself together while I introduce some of them to you:

SANDRA is the tall, statuesque type who loves to stare tragically into space, her mind a blank. She adores the movies and insists her boy friends take her there. Once in the theater she screams and sobs. Often she faints. For Sandra is tender-hearted and can not stand for the hero to be victimized or the heroine to be deprived of her knight. All of Sandra's boy friends are new ones. The old ones never come back.

Flo, before she became a clothes-horse in a nightclub, gained most of her education by reading movie magazines. She is the round-eyed, baby doll type but wishes she had a husky voice like Garbo. Whenever you talk to her she strives for this husky, deep-toned achievement, murmuring, "The stage, it is my world. . . . It is so wonderful. . . . Even the tiny share I have in it . . . makes . . . me . . . feel . . . so . . . humble . . ."

JOY is one of those ambitious brunette-pretties who wants to improve herself. So she reads books. She hasn't the slightest idea what they are about, but she reads them. Her idea of a good book is one with a pretty cover. The one she is carrying this week on subway rides between her apartment on 90th street and Times Square is "Reciprocal Trade Agreements with Latin America." The world "Latin" in the title is what sold her on the book. She thought it had something to do with Valentino and the tango.

Colette is a movie-mimic. . . . One day she fixes her hair like Shearer, the next like Hepburn. . . . May likes prize-fights, probably the Mae West influence, although there is none of the hour-glass to her torso. . . . Belle chews gum twice daily "because it keeps my teeth so beautiful." . . . Helene is probably the prettiest show girl on Broadway. Her hair is honey-colored, but she would rather be the Russian type, like Tamara.

Jean will probably go further than any of the lasses identified here. Her ambition is to become a kindergarten teacher and she is studying to that end. She got the idea while watching children at play in the park one Sunday afternoon. Since her thoughts do not include the theater, Jean will probably become a great actress. Things so frequently turn out that way.

Quinn Offers 'Tips' on Hardy Evergreens

Many persons when they plant evergreens seem to think that they have solved their problem of beautification around their homes, only to find a few years later that some of their plants are dead, others diseased and still others completely outgrowing their position in the planting, D. D. Quinn, landscape contractor of Galion, points out.

"This is due entirely to wrong selection of plants and improper arrangements of plants at the time of planting," Mr. Quinn says.

"I am going to name some varieties of evergreens which anyone can plant and with ordinary care have a beautiful and permanent evergeen planting.

"At the head of my list I would place the Taxus, commonly called Japanese Yew. This plant comes in an upright growing evergreen variety. Taxus Cuspidata Capitata, also is a low growing spreading plant variety.

"Another variety closely resembling Irish Juniper in habit of growth is Taxus Hicksii. The Taxus is a beautiful rich, dark green foliaged plant, perfectly hardy and free from any plant disease and above all red spider do not bother them. They will grow perfectly in dense shade and can also be planted in full sun.

"For a hardy low slow growing hedge to take the place of boxweed I would recommend using Taxus Hicksii. It will require no winter protection and needs to be pruned only about twice a year.

Taxus Slow Growing, Hardy.

"For a beautiful hardy slow growing evergreen for any kind of a situation in your planting, you can be safe in using Taxus. Taxus are known in England to be over 1,000 years old. Use them in cemetery plantings, they will make a living memorial.

"Next on my list I would choose Hemlock, Tsuga Canadensis. The Hemlock is one of our native evergreens and is very widely used in home beautification. The leaves or needles are lustrous dark green above and bluish beneath. The Hemlock will stand partial shade and takes very well to pruning, thus can be kept at almost any height.

"The , junipers form a large genus of evergreen trees and shrubs of the pine family. They vary in habit from low, prostrate shrubs to tall slender trees and are widely cultivated. One of the best in my mind is Pfitzer Juniper, a popular form, with spreading, sometimes horizontal branches and dark dull green in color. It will stand city conditions, also some shade. A tall pyramidal type is Juniper Cannarti, the most beautiful dark green of all the junipers. The berry like fruit of this plant is beautiful against its dark green background.

"These are just a few of the many evergreens you can plant but they will be a great help in making you a lover of evergreens."

Mr. Quinn offers to help home owners with their planting problems and points out that "our prices are within your budget and our plants are guaranteed to grow." He can be reached at phone 1766, Galion.

'PRODUCTION LINE' EFFICIENCY FEATURE OF MODERN KITCHENS

An interesting part of modern manufacturing is the "production line," which simplifies and speeds up production by an orderly process of assembly, without unnecessary waste motion.

After all, time is as important to the housewife as it is to the manufacturer, and with this idea in mind, the Modern Kitchen idea has been developed by Westinghouse, to lighten kitchen tasks and save unnecessary steps.

Much study has been devoted to the kitchen and as a result it is no longer a dreaded home necessity where disagreeable tasks are finished as quickly as possible, but instead, it is a beautiful, neatly arranged workshop where not only the housewife, but the children, husbands and guests spend many leisure hours.

There is a straight line flow of material in a planned kitchen First, the electric refrigerator, then the counter where the food is prepared. Easily reached cabinets hold the pots, pans, etc. Next is the sink for the prompt washing of the implements used in getting the meal together. Then the electric range, from which the cooked food is taken on to the serving counter, and so to the dining room.

The Westinghouse company, through its dealers, one of which is the Ohio Public Service company, has made available to the housewives of Mansfield the Planned Kitchen, an example of which may be seen at the office of the Ohio Public Service company on South Park street.

Action of Stock Markets Presages Business Uptrend

It has been contended that the action of security markets invariably presages the trend of business, the Administrative and Research Corporation says in its weekly letter. In the case of the 1937-38 depression, the contention seems to be valid.

At the beginning of the slump, heavy industry began to reflect diminished demand. Commodity prices receded and there was ample evidence that inventories had been piled too high. Prospects of lower corporate earnings, diminishing national buying power and continued high wages and taxes began to take their toll of public confidence. Then was launched the stampede to work off inventories which continued until recently The signs of a slump were many.

On the other hand, when stock prices began to climb in April of this year, there was little but the beginning of a home building revival and the distant prospect of pump-priming to encourage an optimistic appraisal. Yet stocks rose from a low of 52 of the index early in April to 73 in August, a rise of over 40 per cent in five months. However, definite indications of a better fall outlook did not materialie until mid-summer. It was not until July that the automotive industry revised upward earlier estimates of fall production and the steel industry did not begin to discount a production rate of fifty per cent of capacity or better until August.

A simple explanation is that waning public confidence, coupled with an overproduced and overbought state, brought about the debacle and the gradual correction of this situation has begun to assert itself.

As a Dow-Jones summary states: "Traditionally, the next 60 days embrace one of the periods when business is at its best." Thus, the continuance of an uptrend through the fall seems a reasonable expectation, based simply upon present momentum. But in attempting to analyze the early '39 picture, one encounters many possible deterrents to a continuance of the recovery movement.

DeMilo Salon Presents Latest In Fall Coiffures

The DeMilo Beauty Salon, 40½ West Fourth street, is one of Mansfield's newest and most attractive beauty parlors.

It offers its clients complete rest and comfort with its well lighted and modern shop equipped with the latest appliances. The salon is smartly appointed with Venetian blinds and modernistic chrome furniture.

Milo A. Yergich is proprietor of the salon and is assisted by a staff of four hair stylists.

The shop uses nationally advertised methods of permanent waving designed to give its patrons individualized and flattering effects. Mr. Yergich offers advice on up-to-the-minute coiffures for fall and winter.

The salon also has an enlarged facial department with an experienced operator qualified to give advice on the scientific care of the skin.

Another feature is the new French natural wave haircut which leaves the hair in a soft natural wave.

Sheep 'Shocked' By Electricity In Wet Pasture

SACRAMENTO, Cal. — (INS) — Although still showing a slight tinge about the face, ears and neck, Dr. Roy Mills, sheep disease specialist in the State Department of Agriculture, is no longer baffled.

Dr. Mills was sent for by sheep men when all the animals in a particular pasture seemed "crazy." They would suddenly drop to the ground, endure a brief bit of agony, squirm and roll for a few feet and then suddenly recover.

At first Mills thought perhaps the sheep had imbibed in "loco week" but examination of feed brought no results. He was getting down to grass roots when he discovered the ground was charged with electricity and the sheep were being "shocked" in the wet soil.

Investigation showed power was leaking from a nearby transmission line and saturating the ground.

CELEBRATE PATRIOTIC HOLIDAY WITH DINNER

Jared Mansfield Chapter, D. A. R., Constitution Chapter S. A. R. Hear William Holsinger Speak.

MEMBERS of the Jared Mansfield chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met jointly with the Constitution chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution Saturday evening for a Constitution day dinner served at 6:30 p. m. at the Grace Episcopal church. The dinner was served at a U-shaped table decorated with red, white and blue candles and harmonizing flowers.

J. Leo Hartman, president of the S. A. R. and the past regents of the D. A. R. were introduced by Mrs. A. C. Tuttle, regent. Several two-piano numbers were given by Mrs. Dean Eckert and Mrs. Eugene Renwick.

Their numbers included "Dance of the Candy Fairy," "Chinese Dance" and "Dance of the Orange Tarts" from the Nutcracker Suite by Tschaikowsky and "Juba Dance" by Dolt.

Rev. G. E. Swoyer, organizer of the Mansfield chapter of S. A. R. was then introduced by Mrs. Tuttle, and he gave a short humorous talk before he introduced the speaker, William Holsinger, Cleveland, state S. A. R. president.

Holsinger spoke on "The Constitution, Our American Conscience." His address traced the birth, growth and manhood of the constitution. In the early history of the constitution, Washington, Hamilton and Madison played important roles.

"The constitution is ever guarding representative government," the speaker stated He then contrasted the governments of Italy, Germany and Russia by saying: "Their constitutions reflect the character of their rulers, while our constitution represents the character of our citizens."

The organization will next meet Oct. 7. Hostesses will be Miss Jeanette Martin, Mrs. William Shane, Mrs. William Fendrick, Mrs. Charles Allen, Mrs. A. W. Firestone, Miss Esther Rhodes and Mrs. James E. Lucas.

COUNTRY CLUB DINNER.

After the dinner served to 60 members of the Westbrook Country club games were played. The color scheme was in fall shades and floral decorations were used. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Herring were in charge. Mrs. George Ironside, Hartford, Conn., was a guest.

Mary Washington Chapter Meets At Westbrook Club

Opening their meetings with a Constitution day luncheon, members of the Mary Washington chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met Saturday at Westbrook Country club. Luncheon was served to 25 members and one guest, Mrs. George Ironside, Hartford, Conn., a former member, at a large table. A floral centerpiece was used.

Mrs. George Averill, new regent, presided during the meeting, and Mrs. L. J. Bonar gave a paper on the old First Church of Bennington, Vt., which is now called the "Colonial Shrine." Mrs. George Buchan was hostess and Mrs. H. H. Sanford arranged the program.

A travel talk on her Labrador cruise was given by Mrs. E. J. Gilbert. The next meeting of the organization will be Oct. 10 with Mrs. L. W. Olson serving as hostess. Complete details were not announced.

Mansfield Women Will Attend Political Meet

A number of Mansfield women are expected to attend the Federated Democratic Women of Ohio convention which is being held Sept. 23 and 24 at the Neil House in Columbus. The Dolly Madison club has named a number of delegates and alternates to the affair.

Those who plan to go are Mrs. Marie Bell, Mrs. Nell Dillon, Mrs. Ruth Kahl, Mrs. Emma Smith and Mrs. Mame Wentz Alternates include Mrs. Donna Berg, Mrs. Ruth Shover, Mrs. Goldie Schill, Mrs. Cliff Mitchell and Mrs. Emma Bellore.

Rain Interrupts Regular Play of Women Golfers

When women of Possum Run golf club meet Wednesday morning at the club they will play for selected holes. Because of the rain last Wednesday the members played bridge preceding the luncheon served at the club house. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. P. J. Linster and Mrs. Frank Vild.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru," with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessens distress from female functional disorders.

You'll find Pinkham's Compound WELL WORTH TRYING!

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of loose false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds loose false teeth firmer, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks plate odor (denture breath) Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

When mouth tissues change, see your dentist.
